WAR BULLETIN

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 25 (U.P.)—Germans have flooded large parts of Holland, especially around Zuiderzee, as a precaution against invasion, a Malmoe dispatch to Svenska Morgonbladets reported today, quoting a "reliable source."

RAF Sends 1,000 Bombers to Blast Enemy Industries

By PHIL AULT

LONDON, Feb. 25 (U.P.)—Well over 1,000 British bombers sent the greatest air offensive in history into its sixth day last night with shattering raids on the German aircraft centers of Schweinfurt and Steyr while they still blazed from American daylight attacks yesterday.

Striving for a knockout blow, the bulk of more than 1,000 RAF bombers taking off from British bases last night made two raids on Schweinfurt in central Germany, while Wellingtons operating from Italian bases simultaneously hit Steyr, 90 miles west of Vienna, Austria.

Soon after the night raiders returned to their bases, American and British planes swept out across the channel for new daylight attacks in the round-the-clock offensive designed to cripple nazi production and anti-invasion defenses in advance of the opening of a western front.

Belgium, Holland Hit

Ninth U. S. air force Marauders, escorted and covered by allied fighters, attacked airfields in Belgium and Holland from which German fighters have been taking off to harass American heavy bombers in their raids on the reich. RAF Typhoon fighter-bombers pounded objectives along the French invasion coast.

U. S. army headquarters in London disclosed that the American air forces alone were shooting down an average of 100 German planes a day in air battles over the reich that may decide the course of the war. British and Italian-based American bombers and fighters yesterday destroyed 156 enemy aircraft over Germany for a five-day bag of 499.

The British night assaults on Schweinfurt and Steyr increased the number of allied planes attacking Germany during the 24-hour period to well over 3,000 and brought the all-out air offensive to its highest pitch of intensity.

Guided By Fires

Fires started yesterday by American Flying Fortresses guided the four-engined British-based night raiders to their targets at Schweinfurt, site of ball bearing and aircraft component factories. New fires were kindled and by the end of the second attack, a "large conflagration" was seen, with smoke rising to a great height, the air ministry announced.

Other bombers in what may have been the greatest force ever sent out by the RAF from Britain attacked unspecified objectives in northwest Germany and completed a "very extensive" mine-laying program. Only 35 bombers were lost in all British-based night raids.

MILITARY TAKES OVER ARGENTINA IN SUDDEN COUP

MONTEVIDEO, Feb. 25 (AP) — Vice-President Gen. Edelmiro J. Farrell took over the reins of Argentina's nine-month-old military government today after Gen. Pedro Ramirez had vacated the presidency in a sudden political upheaval regarded here as another palace coup.

Full significance of the upheaval was not immediately apparent in Montevideo, as strict censorship was clamped down in Buenos Aires before details could be transmitted abroad.

There seemed no question, however, that the situation was the direct result of smouldering opposition within Ramirez' cabinet which was fanned into flame when he decided to break relations with the axis powers Jan. 26.

It remained to be seen what effect Farrell's assumption of the presidency would have upon Argentine foreign relations, but it was noted here that an intimate friend of Col. Juan Domingo Peron, secretary of labor and welfare, who frequently has been mentioned as the mainspring of the reactionary "gou"—or "colonels' group."

This organization was credited only last week with forcing the resignation of Foreign Minister Alberto Gilbert — one of its original members—after he had been reported in favor of a declaration of war against Germany.

The change in the presidency apparently was accomplished without bloodshed or violence, although there were reports that "military forces had been very active."

The action of Ramirez in stepping down from the presidency was attributed officially to ill health.

FLASHES of LIFE

By Associated Press

MONOTONOUS

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 25—A prisoner serving a 60-day federal sentence complained of his jail associates in a letter to the district judge.

"All I hear is the boys talking of robbing banks and cracking safes and killing people," he wrote. "That sure gets on my nerves. If you will let me out of here, I'll never make no more whisky."

The judge commuted sentence, sent him home to his plowing.

AGREEMENT

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Feb. 25—A policeman waiting for the start of a session of the New Britain police school casually remarked to a stranger outside the meeting room, "I suppose they'll have some wind-bag up from Washington to speak to us."

"Probably will," agreed FBI Agent L. L. Meunier, the speaker of the evening.

CHILLY

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25 — Says George Miller, chairman of district ration board No. 6:

"I've been shivering in my apartment — at 40 degrees temperature—all winter."

Miller might ration out some oil to his landlord—but the furnace burns coal, scarce and unrationed.

FIFTH NAZI RAID DAMAGES LONDON

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP)—Londoners flocked into underground shelters again last night as German bombers attacked the capital for the fifth time in six nights, cutting deep new wounds into the city's scarred face.

The raiders, coming in high—apparently from three directions—showered incendiaries and explosives over a fairly wide area, causing a number of casualties and considerable property damage. Ten were shot down.

Prime Minister Churchill, visiting the scene of one big fire where a number of houses and two restaurants were demolished, repeatedly raised his fingers in the "V" sign and told spectators who crowded around: "We'll stick it out and fight it."

The new attack came while wreckage still was being searched for victims of the previous night's raid.

Many casualties apparently resulted when a dance hall was hit. Several diners were buried in one corner of a restaurant. A fire was started in one of three hospitals that suffered hits. A large sports stadium was damaged. Many homes and other buildings were damaged or destroyed.

Hitler Imprisons Leader in Russia

LONDON, Feb. 25 (U.P.)—A Zurich dispatch to the Daily Telegraph, quoting the St. Galler Tageblatt, said Field Marshal Georg von Kuechler had been jailed in the fortress of Koenigsberg, East Prussia, for gross insubordination and refusal to carry out Adolf Hitler's orders.

The Swiss newspaper said von Kuechler had been removed from command of the German armies of the northern Russian front for his failure to halt the red army break-through of the nazi Leningrad line.

Ceilings Put on Regauged Liquor

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The office of price administration today established dollars-and-cents ceiling prices for regauged bulk domestic whisky.

Levels set, the agency said, are approximately the same as those in effect for bulk domestic whisky of the same age sold in an original proof gallon basis, plus an allowance for average evaporation.

Bombers, Swiss Gunners Agree Fire Harmless

LONDON, Feb. 25 (U.P.)—The Berlin radio today reported this exchange of radio dialogue between American airmen and Swiss anti-aircraft gunners during an alleged American flight over neutral Switzerland last night:

Swiss ack-ack commander: "Look out, you're over Switzerland."

American bomber pilot: "We know."

Swiss: "If you don't turn back we shall shoot."

The Swiss gunners opened fire and the American pilot radioed back:

"Your ack-ack fire is about 1,000 feet too low."

"We know," the Swiss replied.

Part of Large Crowd at Farm Implement Sale

This is a typical scene at the Magic Valley farm implement sale held here Friday, with bidders crowded close around Auctioneer W. J. BIDDING BRISK AT MACHINE AUCTION

The farm implement shortage was taking a terrific beating in Twin Falls Friday, with 356 farmers offering an estimated 2,000 pieces of equipment for sale at the second annual Magic Valley farm implement auction, which is sponsored by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and the U.S.D.A. war board here, in conjunction with Twin Falls implement dealers.

A large crowd, undaunted by new-fallen snow and a chilling wind, was bidding briskly during the morning for Auctioneer W. J. Hollenbeck and Oscar Klaas, and Lloyd Bean went to work as auctioneer at noon. Prices were said to be good because of the high quality of the implements offered for sale, and the urgent need of farmers for many particular types.

William (Bill) Taylor, chairman of the receiving committee, said the sale slightly exceeded that of last year in number of farmers entered, and was expected to show considerable increase in number of implements sold and in the total dollar volume.

There were 336 entries in the 1943 sale, for a total of 1,500 pieces of equipment which sold for $15,000.

Friday morning's low temperature kept the women of the Hansen Grange busy serving sandwiches, pie and coffee to those attending the sale. Tabulated results of the sale are not expected before Saturday.

Poland Rejects Proposed Border

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Polish government-in-exile was reported today to have sent to Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden a refusal to accept the Curzon line as a future Polish-Russian frontier and to have expressed displeasure at Prime Minister Churchill's support of the Soviet demands.

The semi-official Polish newspaper Dziennik Polski, which said yesterday the Curzon line was not acceptable, intimated that the Soviet-Polish dispute had reached an impasse and that marked differences had arisen between the British and Polish governments over the boundary issue.

Home Penicillin Declared Unsafe

CHICAGO, Feb. 25 (U.P.)—Penicillin cannot be grown at home safely because of a poison which develops except under strict laboratory control, according to Dr. W. E. Herrell of the Mayo foundation of the University of Minnesota.

Herrell told the Chicago section of the American Medical society last night that "ridiculous" reports have been circulated that penicillin could be grown in the kitchen for $5.

Draft Test for 118 on March 22

The Twin Falls selective service board will send 118 men to Boise for pre-induction physical examinations on March 22, it was said Thursday by Joe L. Roberts, chief clerk.

These men will be used to fill the April call.

Names of those accepted for the army and navy in the Feb. 22 pre-induction physical had not been received Thursday, Roberts said.

The size of the March induction call, which will be taken from the 120 from this board examined at Boise Tuesday, has not yet been announced.

Vitebsk Captured by Reds; Rogachev Falls

LONDON, Feb. 25 (AP) — Germany's transocean news agency broadcast today that German troops have evacuated the great White Russian stronghold of Vitebsk, to fall back toward the old Polish frontier 70 miles to the west.

The German high command's communique, broadcast later, did not mention Vitebsk but confirmed an earlier Berlin announcement—also made by Moscow—that Russian troops had taken Rogachev, a center 50 miles south of Vitebsk.

Moscow army authorities declared that Hitler's Rogachev-Vitebsk line, one of the strongest on the Russian front, is smashed. Red army men streamed across the ice of the Dnieper river which forms a large part of the line, dispatches said.

Moscow had not announced the capture of Vitebsk.

The Transocean agency, in a Berlin broadcast recorded here by the ministry of information, said that Vitebsk, important junction of four trunk railways and under siege by red army troops since last November, was evacuated only after bitter fighting.

Premier Stalin, in one of two orders of the day issued in Moscow, announced earlier that Gen. Constantine Rokossovsky's army, in a new offensive north of the Pripet marshes, had stormed and captured Rogachev and had advanced 15 miles on a 30-mile-wide front, taking more than 30 towns and villages. One Soviet formation alone killed 4,000 enemy troops, captured many prisoners and quantities of war material, including 62 big guns, the announcement said.

The fall of Rogachev and Vitebsk was viewed here as an indication that the Russians intend mounting a new offensive aimed at the White Russian capital of Minsk, less than 100 miles west of the nearest Russian lines on this rapidly changing front.

On the Baltic front, 220 miles north of the Vitebsk sector, red army troops converging on Pskov had not only captured Dno, last important nazi base to the east of Pskov, but had also captured a village 20 miles to the north, Moscow said.

HEAVY ATTACK LOOMS

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 25 (AP)—Aftonbladet's Berlin correspondent said today the lull in the fighting in Italy was regarded as the calm before the storm. The allies on the Cassino front were said to have been reinforced by British, Indian and French Moroccan troops and there were signs that a big attack was coming.

SOVIET PROPOSES MILD FINN PEACE

LONDON, Feb. 25 (U.P.)—Russia's terms for an armistice with Finland—all comparatively mild—were conveyed to Great Britain and the United States for the information of the allied governments three days ago, a reliable informant said today.

The terms were understood to have been communicated to the Finnish government for consideration at the same time.

"There is no doubt that progress has been made, but it does not mean the end in Finland is near," a non-British informant said. "It probably will be several weeks before the climax."

This informant said that Russia's terms, in answer to Finland's recent peace-feelers, included:

1. Re-establishment of the 1940 border between Finland and the Soviet Union.
2. Internment of German troops now in Finland.
3. No occupation of Finland by Russian troops in the usual sense, but the Soviets would enter the country to help the Finns deal with the Germans inside the country, agreeing to leave as soon as the war is over.
4. Soviet agreement to the continuation in office of the present Finnish government.

The reference to the 1940 frontier apparently was to the settlement between Russia and Finland in March of that year at the end of their "winter war."

Sugar Ration in 1944 May Be Cut

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—An indication that civilians may get less sugar this year than last is contained in a report of the war food administration, issued Thursday, showing that stocks held in this country on Jan. 1 were 18 per cent smaller than a year earlier.

Totaling 1,745,713 short tons, the stocks were 371,000 tons below those of a year ago, the lowest level for January in many years.

While declining to make any prediction on future civilian supplies, officials said improvements in the wartime shipping situation might allow some increase in imports from the Caribbean area, but probably not in quantities sufficient to maintain last year's rate of consumption.

Slavs Land Force On Adriatic Isle

LONDON, Feb. 25 (U.P.)—A Yugoslav communique said today that a partisan unit had landed on the island of Brac, in the Adriatic off the Dalmation coast near Milna.

The operation was described as completely successful and the communique said the Germans had suffered heavy casualties.

Partisan sources also reported that more than 200 Germans were killed in a series of clashes in southern and eastern Bosnia, and claimed new successes in small-scale guerrilla actions in northwestern Yugoslavia.

Senate Votes 72-14 For Passage of Tax Bill Over FDR Veto

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP) - A determined senate teamed up with the house today to override President Roosevelt and enact a $2,315,200,000 tax increase bill over his caustic veto.

The senate vote was announced as 72 to 14, far more than the necessary two-thirds majority.

The President's veto message sparked a congressional revolt which from the very start left no doubt as to the final outcome of the second wartime tax measure, which Mr. Roosevelt called inadequate.

Senator Barkley's dramatic resignation as senate Democratic leader yesterday only furnished visual proof of a seemingly inevitable break between the White House and capitol hill. The senate Democrats promptly demonstrated a new independence by unanimously reelecting the genial, ruddy-faced Kentuckian to the position.

The house used votes, not words, to make plain its displeasure over the tax veto. Democrats joined Republicans in rolling up a 299 to 95 vote to override the veto yesterday. The senate followed suit today.

Atmosphere Clears

Barkley helped clear the atmosphere by dispatching a letter of friendship to President Roosevelt last night, but even the generally conciliatory tone of this missive did not completely bridge the gaping breach between the executive and legislative branches of the government. Barkley made it clear that in the future there must be co-operation both ways.

Although expressing the deepest desire for continuation of the traditionally cordial relations between the two, Barkley declared:

"In this great crisis of our nation's history we must all seek some common ground upon which we can meet and have confidence in one another. That applies to all branches of government. If we cannot trust one another in this tragic period of the history of our nation and of the world, how can the people trust us?"

In renouncing his post as leader on Wednesday, Barkley declared congress would vote to override if it "has any self respect yet left."

Conciliation Possible

It was evident that Barkley was willing to go a long way to smooth out the turmoil which for 48 hours threatened to rip the Democratic party into dissident pieces at the beginning of a Presidential campaign.

Mr. Roosevelt took the first step toward harmony Wednesday night when he urged Barkley to recon-

How They Voted

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (U.P.)—The senate vote overriding the President's tax bill veto included:

To override the veto—Clark of Idaho, McCarran, Scrugham, Wheeler, Thomas of Idaho.

To sustain the veto—Murdock, Murray, Thomas of Utah.

Yield or Die Choice Faces Bismarck Japs

By DON CASWELL

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Feb. 25 (U.P.) Japanese troops remaining in the Bismarck archipelago faced death or surrender today as American air and naval forces tightened their blockade of islands in the New Britain, New Ireland, and Admiralty groups with another smashing blow at the enemy's land and sea power in the southwest Pacific.

In a sweep through the Bismarck sea and the waters around the Solomons, U. S. naval vessels sank an enemy troop-laden ship, a cargo vessel, nine barges, and a Japanese destroyer, virtually cutting off all escape routes for the beleaguered enemy garrisons in the area.

At the same time, American airmen continued their incessant and unmolested attacks on Kavieng and Rabaul, the two big Japanese bases on New Ireland and New Britain, while naval units joined in a night bombardment of Kavieng airdrome and installations on the Duke of York island.

"We are tightening the blockade of enemy's Bismarck bases," a communique said, "and now dominate the sea lanes to the north due to the effective neutralization of the enemy's air bases in the Admiralty and New Ireland and New Britain groups."

Approximately 330 Japanese soldiers died in the sinking of the 1,500-ton troop transport as it attempted to flee northward with evacuated forces from the threatened Bismarck bases.

Only 73 of the Japanese on the transport were rescued, and a spokesman said two of these died later of injuries and another committed suicide.

In their attack on Rabaul, the American airmen scored hits on eight vessels and numerous barges in Keravia bay, leaving two of the vessels in flames. It was their 20th consecutive day of raids on the New Britain stronghold, and again there was no enemy interception.

YANKS AT ANZIO HALT NAZI PUSH

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, Feb. 25 (AP)—German forces ringing the Anzio beachhead, now swollen to 10 divisions, pecked at American-British lines yesterday in two fruitless attacks southwest of Carroceto as the fifth army steadily improved its positions, it was announced today.

The enemy likewise in light force assaulted French positions on Monte Abate a mile and a half east of Terelle on the Cassino front, but artillery fire broke up the thrust, and on the lower Garigliano sector German probing attempts were blocked.

Despite a seven-inch snowfall in the mountains around Cassino, allied troops improved their positions on Monte Castellone in the mountains west of the village of Cairo, midway between Cassino and Terelle.

The new German division added to the nine which have been containing the Anzio beachhead for some days was said to have been brought from northern Italy.

The two beachhead attacks were launched by only a company of infantry in each case—usually about 200 men. They were repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy, it was announced.

Allied artillery got the range of a German tank concentration near the so-called factory in the Carroceto area and forced it to disperse.

The Germans continued to make a number of nuisance infiltrations around allied outposts south of the nazis' main rallying point at Carroceto, but a fifth army spokesman said these were being kept under control. Patrols sent out by the British eighth army found German positions still firm.

SIX FLIERS KILLED

ALEXANDRIA, La., Feb. 25 (AP)—Six members of a Flying Fortress crew from the Alexandria army air field were killed and four injured when their plane crashed a half-mile short of the field runway while coming in for a landing early today, Col. Guy F. Hix, commanding officer, disclosed.

30 Evacuees Cite Denial Of "Rights"

HUNT, Feb. 25 (U.P.)—The preference of 30 young Japanese-Americans for expatriation to Japan rather than induction in the armed services is in nature of a protest against denial of their citizenship rights, John Bigelow, reports officer at the Minidoka relocation center, said today.

He said the Japanese, all American citizens, applied for expatriation on the theory that their civil rights had been taken from them and they were evacuated from the west coast to a "concentration camp."

Lieut.-Col. Norman B. Adkison, state selective service executive officer, reported the preference of the 30 for expatriation and said their cases will be considered by the army adjutant general's office in Washington.

Adkison said that of the 120 eligible 1,000 Japanese of draft age at the center ordered to report for pre-induction physicals only two had refused. The two were classified as delinquents and their cases turned over to the FBI.

"NOT MUCH SUPPORT"

HUNT, Feb. 25 (U.P.)—"Not much support" is being given among eligible draft inductees here to petitions asking restoration of citizenship and other rights, John Bigelow, reports officer, said today.

The petitions are similar to those being circulated in other centers. They ask that inductees receive the right to return to the Pacific coast, that they receive return of cameras and other articles seized as contraband, and that their parents' classifications be changed to "friendly alien."

Also requested is that Japanese Americans be permitted to serve not only in the army but in the navy, marines and coast guard. Promotion privileges equal to those of Caucasians in the army are demanded.

CAPTURE CONFIRMED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (U.P.)—The war department today confirmed report that Second Lieut. Frank A. Larson, son of Frank A. Larson, sr., Burley, Ida., is now a prisoner of war in Germany. He is an air corps pilot.

TAX LOAD JUMPS BY TWO BILLIONS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP) — America's federal tax load was increased by $2,300,000,000 to a new record total of over $42,000,000,000 annually today as the senate followed the house in overriding President Roosevelt's veto of the second wartime revenue act.

First general effects of the new legislation will be felt when higher postal rates become effective 30 days hence.

Then on April 1, an increased schedule of excise taxes become effective, jumping the levy on liquor from $6 to $9 a gallon, or about 11 cents a drink on 100-proof spirits, and extending through a list of other commodities and services.

The legislation has no effect whatever on individual income tax returns due by March 15 on 1943 income:

Salient provisions of the new law include:

1. Increases in individual income taxes for 1944—to yield an additional $664,000,000.
2. A boost in the corporation excess profits tax, from 90 per cent to 95—to yield $502,100,000 more.
3. Higher excises on items classified as luxuries—another $1,051,300,000.

Allied Bombers Active in Burma

NEW DELHI, Feb. 25 (U.P.)—American and British bombers struck heavily at four key Japanese air bases in western and central Burma, while other allied warplanes hammered enemy communications lines over a wide area, a communique said today.

RAF medium bombers hit the Magwe air base in force last night, laying explosives squarely across the runways and dispersal areas. American heavy bombers plastered the Akyab airdrome and two nearby fields with direct hits in a bold daylight raid Wednesday, and British heavies followed up with a night attack on railway installations at Moulmein and Mataban.

Split on Veto Heavy Blow to Roosevelt's Chances in 1944

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (U.P.)—If the 1944 election were run off today on the mixed issues considered by the house in overriding the tax veto, President Roosevelt would be overwhelmed by the candidate running against him.

The issues ranged from affection for Sen. Alben W. Barkley, D., Ky., who long served in the house, to the incontrovertible fact that congress was tired of tax problems and preferred other work.

In between was a medley of factors. There was the reluctance to deal further with taxes in an election year. The dominating factor probably was congressional resentment against the abrupt, unfriendly manner in which the President has dealt with the house and senate and their delegated representatives.

Issue Raised

Barkley raised that issue specifically in responding to Mr. Roosevelt's veto message with the tender of his resignation as senate Democratic leader. Congress was in a position where a great many members evidently felt that they had to oppose Mr. Roosevelt to retain their self-respect.

But congressional self-respect, affection for a former colleague and many of today's factors will be lost in the tidal wave of larger issues to be decided next election day. Otherwise, you might count Mr. Roosevelt out right now.

The recorded vote shows that the 95 house members who voted to sustain Mr. Roosevelt's veto were drawn from 23 states and four parties: Democratic, 89; Republican, 3; Progressive, 2; and American Labor, 1. He was opposed by 299 members.

Even in One

Mr. Roosevelt broke even in one of the 23 states, Washington, where three of the state's six house members voted to sustain. He carried five states, Tennessee, Rhode Island, Utah, Arizona and Montana, getting seven of a possible 10 votes from Tennessee and the two-man house delegation from each of the four others.

Those four states cast an aggresider his intention to resign. Even if he went through with the resignation, Mr. Roosevelt said he hoped his colleagues would reelect him to the leadership unanimously.

A strangely formal pattern produced just that result yesterday. Barkley told a Democratic caucus he was determined to go through with his resignation. In accordance with his wishes, it was accepted. The Kentuckian left for his private office. A few minutes later a delegation called on him to announce he had been reelected unanimously on an aye and no vote. He accepted the draft and came out of the tangled situation with vastly increased prestige.

Less Than Asked

The tax bill which touched off the long-brewing trouble was estimated by congress to yield $2,315,200,000 over a full year's operation. Discounting [illegible] social security tax freeze Mr. Roosevelt [illegible] it would bring the treasury less than $1,000,000,000. He had asked for $10,500,000,000.

ile and factory hand are affected by the new excise load. The tax on cabaret charges jumps from 5 to 30 per cent. Cosmetics, furs, luggage and most jewelry will bear a 20 per cent sales tax. The rate on railroad tickets and local telephone service goes from 10 to 15 per cent. Beer and wine taxes will go up along with liquor.

4. Increased postal rates in several categories of mail—$96,000,000 more. The out-of-town letter rate remains at 3 cents. The in-town letters, beginning 30 days hence, must carry 3-cent rather than 2-cent stamps. All mail charges rise from 6 to 8 cents per ounce. Other increases affect COD, registered and insured mail, and money order fees.

5. The social security payroll tax rate is frozen at one per cent for the rest of 1944.

6. Numerous changes become effective in the war contracts renegotiation law.

7. Labor unions, farm cooperatives and other organizations are required to make annual financial statements to the treasury, although no tax is imposed.

Hazelton Farmer Dies at Hospital

Otto William Hagemann, 59, resident of Eden and Hazelton since he came to Idaho in 1917 from Illinois died at 3:15 p. m. Thursday at the Twin Falls county general hospital, where he had been a patient most of the time since December.

Mr. Hagemann was born Jan. 8, 1885, at Staunton, Ill. He was a farmer at Hazelton.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Sunday at Trinity Lutheran church, of which he was a member, at Eden. Rev. H. E. Schulze, pastor, will be in charge, and interment will be in the Trinity Lutheran cemetery at Eden, under the direction of the Twin Falls mortuary.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Martha Hagemann, Hazelton, he is survived by one son, Elmer Hagemann, who is serving with the armed forces in the south Pacific; one daughter, Mrs. Esther Schwarz, Eden; one brother, Edwin Hagemann, Staunton, Ill.; one sister, Mrs. Ella Kombrink, Staunton, Ill., and one grandson.

The body rests at the Twin Falls mortuary.

Last Rites Honor 'Jack' Shrout Here

Final tribute was paid O. W. (Jack) Shrout, pioneer Twin Falls resident and chief deputy of the assessor's office for many years, at rites conducted Thursday at 3 p. m. at the White mortuary chapel.

The Rev. Mark C. Cronenberger, pastor of the Christian church, was in charge of services. Two selections were sung by Mrs. Nellie Ostrom.

Honorary pallbearers were Ernest White, Everett Sweeley, C. A. Bailey, Charles Pryor, E. W. McRoberts and O. D. McCulley.

Active pallbearers were Frank Brown, Claude Stewart, Wilbur S. Hill, W. R. Priebe, Charles Casey and Rudy Detweiler.

Interment was in Twin Falls cemetery under direction of the White mortuary.

The Hospital

A few beds were available at the Twin Falls county general hospital at noon Friday.

ADMITTED

Mrs. James Cheld, Jerome; Richard Skinner, Kimberly; Larry Durk and W. R. Taylor, both of Twin Falls, and Rudolf Heil, Filer.

DISMISSED

John Carmichael, W. R. Taylor, Mrs. Anna Werner and Mrs. A. J. Siren, Twin Falls; Harold Stokesberry, Filer, and Howard Reed, Buhl.

INQUEST HELD IN DEATH OF YOUTH

JEROME, Feb. 25—An inquest to the death of Dan Easterly, 21, Jerome, who was killed instantly Wednesday night when he was struck by a passenger car on highway 25 on the west outskirts of Jerome, was held late Thursday at the Wiley funeral chapel.

Coroner J. R. Wiley said the jury found that Easterly "had come to his death Feb. 23 by means of being hit by a car driven by Ray Buntin while walking east on the north side of the highway at 8:15 p. m. at a point west of the Jerome city limits about 300 feet."

Buntin and his sister, Miss Lela Buntin, who was a passenger in the automobile testified at the inquest. Members of the jury were William Spaeth, H. L. Morris, H. C. Duffin, H. C. Ezelus, F. L. Thomas and M. B. Jones.

gate of 26 electoral votes. When the senate comes to the veto hurdle, the results are likely to be similar. But when the voters go to the polls next November, the issues will be broader if not more complex.

Measure of Power

Attempting to read these veto returns as a measure of Mr. Roosevelt's political pulling power is utterly futile because they do not correctly represent the situation. They do demonstrate, however, that the Democratic party is split wide open on such fundamental issues as taxes and in general the relationship of the executive and legislative branches.

If Mr. Roosevelt eliminated himself as Democratic leader and principal candidate, the new deal-Democratic coalition would crack in a dozen places. It is that fact which convinces most observers here that the President will run again.

SPECIAL CALL ON SCHOOLS FAVORED

County superintendents of the South Central Idaho Superintendents' association went on record as favoring a special session of the state legislature to be called immediately to appropriate sufficient money to meet the teacher-salary crisis, it was announced Friday by Mrs. Doris Stradley, superintendent of Twin Falls county schools. The meeting was held at the court house here Thursday afternoon.

Attending were Mrs. Clara Hansen, Rupert, president of the association; Mark Patterson, Hailey, Blaine county; Mrs. Nellie Roberts, Jerome, Jerome county; Mrs. Lucille Allen, Shoshone, Lincoln county; Mrs. Florence Haight, Burley, Cassia county, and Mrs. Stradley, Twin Falls. Mrs. Florence Hughes, Gooding county superintendent and secretary of the association, and Mrs. Hattie Lamson, Fairfield, Camas county, were unable to attend.

Also discussed was the new state law requiring use of educational material on alcohol in schools throughout the state. Procedures for handling the material were dealt with, and Mrs. Bethel B. Day, Gooding W.C.T.U. official and former teacher, spoke on alcohol education, discussing ways that W.C.T.U. material might be used in presenting the course.

Jerome's Baptists To Burn Mortgage

JEROME, Feb. 25—The Rev. M. Carter, field representative of Salt Lake City, will be the special speaker at the burning of the Baptist church mortgage here Sunday, it was announced today by the Rev. Earl Kaurin.

The occasion will be observed in an all day ceremony starting at 11 a. m. and all member of the Baptist church are invited.

At 12:30 p. m. there will be a pot-luck dinner and the afternoon meeting will start at 2:30 p. m. The Rev. O. L. Johnson, now of Rupert, former minister of the Jerome church, will deliver the message. Church history of the Baptist congregation will be read by a member. Clyde Musgrave, former resident, who was actively interested in the Jerome church, will also be here to assist in the mortgage burning ceremony.

At 8 p. m. that evening there will be a service which will include a community sing fest and sermon by Rev. Mr. Kaurin.

JURY DEADLOCKS; MARINE, 23, FREE

John E. Baker, 23, marine stationed at Sun Valley, was freed after the second of two probate court juries had failed Thursday to agree on his guilt on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor girl.

County Prosecutor Everett M. Sweeley said Baker had been released on his own recognizance while the matter was "further considered," but indicated that he would not likely face trial again unless new evidence should be introduced. Baker's release came after a jury composed of five women and one man had divided three and three—the same as the first jury, which was made up entirely of men.

Sweeley said a trial will be held next week at a date still to be set, for James A. Forza, 21, sailor, also stationed at Sun Valley, who faces the same charge as Baker. He and Baker were tried together the first time, resulting in the first "hung" jury.

The two service men were arrested by police the night of Jan. 12 in a tourist camp cabin in company with two girls, 14 and 15 years of age, respectively. One of the girls has been committed to St. Anthony.

LABOR CAMP FOR MEXICANS ASKED

WENDELL, Feb. 25—Cooperating with farmers of the Wendell area in anticipated farm labor shortage this fall, the Wendell Chamber of Commerce at its annual meeting last night agreed to assist in locating a suitable building for a labor camp of Mexican nationals.

Chamber President Morris Jamison appointed as an investigating committee: Ray Ward, Charles Gates and Jerry Williams.

Operation of labor camps was explained by Roy Lane, Twin Falls, area supervisor for the war food administration. Also present were E. E. Scannell, manager of the Twin Falls labor camp, Harry Elcock, district manager of the Amalgamated Sugar company, and C. E. Fleenor, Jerome sugar company field man.

Named on the committee to find rooms for 90 to 100 boys during the district basketball tournament March 9-11 were Al Lowry and M. L. McBride.

Old officers were reelected, including Jamison and George Lindsay, secretary. Ross Borden was elected to fill the vice-presidential vacancy.

CLASS PLAY WINS CROWD APPLAUSE

Youth in all its phases laughed, cried and danced its way across the stage of Twin Falls high school's auditorium Thursday night in the junior class presentation of John C. Holm's "Best Foot Forward."

The tale of the prep school prom to which a movie actress had been invited — and the complications which ensued when the actress accepted—provided entertainment for a substantial and approving audience.

Breezy Atmosphere

Through the efforts of the whole cast the play had an air of youth and hilarity. In particular, however, did Wayne Everton as the bewildered but well meaning cause of all the trouble, Miss Janet Harper in the role of the sophisticated but increasingly perplexed actress, and Miss Barbara Lawrence as the broken hearted girl, gave excellent performances.

The play was given under the direction of Miss Florence Rees with Miss Shirley Hayes and Don Travis assisting.

Special Features

Special features were two dances and a solo, "You Tell Me Your Dream, and I'll Tell You Mine," sung by Miss Dixie Hinshaw. The first dance, a jitterbug number, was cleverly worked out as the dancers came in one door of the auditorium, down the aisle, and out the other door. The waltz number, too, was done in this manner except that in entering the dancers had to pass through an arch covered with roses. Soft colored lights played over the dancers in both scenes.

Music for the dances and between acts was provided by Bob Hughes and his band.

Second presentation will be given at 8 p. m. today at the high school auditorium.

22 Inducted

BOISE, Feb. 25 (AP)—Twenty-two men were inducted into the navy here today through selective service and will be sent to Camp Farragut.

They include Roy I. Frank, Caldwell; George Brooks, Hailey; Marvin Y. Thomason, Gooding; James H. Higginbotham, Wendell, and Darrel L. Cunningham, Kenneth L. Cagle, Leland H. Hylton and Chester E. Partin, all of Buhl.

FILER PICKS NEW HEAD OF SCHOOL

FILER, Feb. 25—The new superintendent of Filer rural high school is A. E. McDermid, science and radio instructor here for the past three years.

He was employed as superintendent by the board of trustees to take the place which will be vacated in May by the resignation of Earl Ramsey.

McDermid, a radio and electrical expert who has taken considerable instruction in those lines, is a graduate of Kimberly high school and University of Nebraska, where he received his bachelor of science degree. He did graduate work at Nebraska, University of Idaho and at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill.

Prior to coming to Idaho, McDermid taught for two years at Meadow Grove high school in Nebraska. He then was instructor at Castleford high school for four years.

Mr. Ramsey is leaving the educational field to become associated with L. M. Smith, Filer, in the latter's bean business.

LOOT

One package of cigarettes constituted the loot in burglary of the Doss Royal Cleaners, 133 Shoshone street south, during Thursday night.

Access to the building was gained by breaking two hasp locks and entering through a coal bin. It was believed the burglary was performed by someone familiar with the place, but all money had been taken from the cash register the night before.

Chief of Police Howard Gillette said a suspect was being investigated, but that no charges had yet been filed.

COMBINED SCHOOL OPERATION ASKED

BOISE, Feb. 25 (AP) — Assistant State Supt. J. C. Eddy Thursday urged small school districts in Idaho to consider temporary consolidation where feasible as a means of alleviating the teacher shortage which he estimated will amount to 900 instructors in the next 12 months.

Eddy, in a speech prepared for radio broadcast on a program sponsored by the College of Idaho, emphasized that consolidations could provide only a partial solution to the problem.

He called attention to the request by the state board of education, the state education council and the state education association that the governor call a special legislative session "to appropriate not to exceed $400,000 to be used for the purpose of increasing teachers' salaries.

Studying Proposal

The governor is studying the proposal and said last night he had decided to present it to members of the legislature at caucuses Sunday night, preceding the special session Monday on the soldier vote question.

Referring to this proposal, Eddy said, "It no doubt will help some to solve our teacher shortage by holding what we have at present, and possibly encouraging many to reenter the profession."

He added that school districts should levy the maximum provided by law in order to provide what funds they can for the purpose.

As for consolidations in small districts, he said they would reduce the number of teachers needed without reducing school district income from taxes and other sources. He said 107 such combinations involving 305 districts operated during 1942-43 causing "a saving of 212 teachers."

Need Transportation

He recalled, however, that "such combinations in many instances will require transportation and since the availability of new school buses is very limited, and the truck tire shortage is acute, it behooves each owner or operator of a school bus to cover as many districts as possible.

"The state department of education and the office of defense transportation are willing to revise and extend present routes to accommodate temporary combinations."

He said districts considering consolidations should consider the matter at annual meetings which in the case of common districts is the third Friday in April.

Vocational Training

Eddy urged a greater emphasis on vocational training in Idaho schools, rather than a too great concentration on "basic training of the mind." The latter, he said, is necessary to prepare those students who can go on to college. Those who go directly into jobs should be prepared for them in high school, he said.

However, "to provide such programs in a re-evaluated curricula," he asserted, "we will need highly-paid personnel."

Five Boys, All 17, Accepted by Navy

Five 17-year-olds from the Magic Valley area were enlisted in the navy and left this week to begin their recruit training at the Farragut naval station, according to C. A. Severn, recruiter in charge of the Twin Falls navy station.

They are Charles Edward Cooke, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cooke, route two, Kimberly; Waldo Faught, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis J. Faught, route two, Burley; Eugene Charles Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Smith, Castleford; Francis Joe Harp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin B. Harp, Box 55, Kimberly, and Maurice Charlie Murphy, recently employed in the Twin Falls area, son of Mrs. Loverna Murphy, Redmond, Utah.

HAGERMAN

Cpl. Robert G. Jenkins arrived for a thirty-day furlough at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Alice Jones, where he makes his home. Corporal Jenkins joined the marine paratroopers in January, 1942, and has had 16 months active duty in the south Pacific. He holds a special citation presented to him by Commander General Vandergraft for acts of bravery.

Mrs. Charles Skinner left to visit her daughter, Mrs. George Holt, at St. Cloud, Minn. Mrs. Rosa Judd is staying at the Skinner home during her absence.

Wiley Harmon and son, Dean, returned from the west coast, where they have spent the past two weeks. Dean reported this week for his examination for the army.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Ritchie transacted business in Boise last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gilmore and grandson, Stanton Boyd, jr., visited relatives for a few days. Mr. Gilmore was looking after his property here.

Apostle D. T. Williams, Independence, Mo., will hold services at the Reorganized L. D. S. church Tuesday and Wednesday, Feb. 29 and March 1.

The American Legon and auxiliary met at the hall for separate business meetings, followed by a potluck supper. The auxiliary voted for each member to donate either an apron or a cooked food dish for the health unit's silver tea and sale March 10 at the Civic club rooms.

Topics for discussion will be: Status of I. E. A., led by Supt. Hiram D. Fry of Castleford, and reports on recent education meetings with Burley Supt. George E. Denman as chairman. Drawings also will be made for the class A district basketball tournament to be held in Twin Falls March 9-10-11.

Fairview School Tops Bond Quota

FAIRVIEW, Feb. 25—The pupils of Fairview school made an outstanding record in the fourth war loan drive. Their first goal was $1,780 or the price of a field ambulance. The response the first week of the drive was so satisfactory that they made their goal a flying jeep at $3,000.

The final count resulted in $11,231.95 or enough for a field ambulance, and three flying jeeps, with more than $1,000 to spare.

The pupils themselves had previously bought $1,265 in stamps and bonds before the fourth drive began. The teachers at Fairview are Miss Joyce Carson and Mrs. Lela Parker.

TRIBUTE PAID TO FORMER SHERIFF

ALBION, Feb. 25—Final tribute was paid here to Fred Danner, colorful Texas and Idaho pioneer and the third sheriff of Cassia county in the days when Cassia included a large part of southern Idaho.

Hyrum Lewis, Declo, was principal speaker at the services. Masonic ritualistic rites were held at the graveside in the Masonic cemetery.

Mr. Danner was born Oct. 3, 1857, in Christian county, Mo. He died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Abbie Fairwell, at the age of 86.

He moved with his parents to Mersed county, Calif., in 1858, where he spent his early life. When 20 years of age he went to Texas, where he engaged in the cattle business. In 1880 he moved to Idaho and was employed by William Gwinn. On April 4, 1886, at Albion, he was married to Live Matilda Lewis, and to this union 13 children were born.

Three preceded him in death, Edna, Agnes and Fred. He is survived by seven sons, Marshall, David, Sam, John, Heber, Frank and Lee, and three daughters, Mrs. Harriett Chatburn, Mrs. Olive Matsen and Mrs. Abbie Fairwell. All are living in Los Angeles county except Sam, in Shoshone; Heber and Mrs. Farwell, Albion. He also raised a grandson, Virgil, son of William and Edna Danner Gray, Albion.

While at Albion he engaged in farming and cattle raising. He served as sheriff for Cassia county and as water master for a number of years.

On Nov. 23, 1925, they moved to Los Angeles. He made several visits back to Albion to visit relatives and friends. His wife preceded him in death at Los Angeles on July 7, 1937; she is buried in Albion.

Besides his sons and daughters that survive are a half-brother, Harry Danner, Mount Vernon, N. Y., 20 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

He was a member of Cassia lodge No. 14, A. F. and A. M. for 56 years and was a charter member of Naomi chapter No. 4, Order of the Eastern Star.

HAILEY

County Superintendent Mark T. Patterson, Superintendent E. G. Foster, Hailey, and Supt. George Merrick, Bellevue, attended the state educational conference held at the Idaho Power company auditorium in Twin Falls on Feb. 18.

H. P. Jayne, San Francisco attorney, is in Hailey in connection with the mining property of Frank Powell, H. M. Mattair and the late O. B. Sunberg, which is located west of Hailey.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Thompson, who have leased the Marshall Chapman ranch north of Hailey for the past four years, will move to Fairfield within the next two weeks. Mr. Thompson has leased the McHan ranch and machine shop there.

Sgt. Gilbert Williams is spending a fifteen-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams. He is now stationed at Hunter-Liggett military reservation, King City, Calif. The three other sons of Mr. and Mrs. Williams in the armed forces are Staff Sgt. James Williams, stationed in the south Pacific; Pfc. Paul Williams, now in England, and Lt. Cecil Williams, Camp White, Medford, Ore.

Nazi Hens Don't Lay Enough Eggs

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 25 (AP)—The nazi press was warned German poultry raisers that hens are not producing enough eggs and has announced that another pig and chicken census is scheduled to be held throughout Germany on March 3.

The pig census is primarily for the purpose of determining how many more safely can be slaughtered without endangering the country's future meat supply. The potato crop failure of 1943 apparently is being felt acutely by hog raisers who use potatoes as fodder.

SOLONS MAY NOT AGREE ON VOTE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 25 (AP)—The council of state governments said Wednesday it is possible that congress never may reach an agreement on the service vote question.

Accordingly, the states were advised to get set to handle the absentee balloting if necessary.

Conferees of house and senate are deadlocked. One faction representing the administration wants a federal ballot. The other says it is a state right.

Governors Advised

The council wrote the governors and election officials of the nation with a guide to their course and in a preamble observed "it is possible that a stalemate may ensue" in congress.

Meantime the states should either pass new laws or repeal old ones to accomplish these objectives, the council said.

"Make valid any form of application for an absentee ballot under any federal statute, providing the applicant has a voting residence in that state. Application is to be considered the same as registration which is to be waived.

Mailing Instruction

Provision should be made also for mailing a ballot without application if election officials are informed of the voter's name and military address. The army and navy cannot provide this information, however.

The ballot should be in such form that it can be fitted into an envelope no larger than 4 and ⅛ inches by 9 and ½ inches. The weight of the ballot, instructions and the envelope should not exceed 8-10 of an ounce. This is to help insure air mail handling.

The Canadian Naval college opened at Halifax in 1911.

RUPERT

Clyde Green, who has been with the armed forces for the past 18 months, and has been a hospital patient for several weeks, was released from the hospital and given a discharge. Returning to Rupert Sunday he was met at Minidoka by his wife, Mrs. Edna Green, and his brother-in-law, Kenneth Ennis.

Rev. Balfour, pastor of the Burley Christian church, and Mrs. Balfour are assisting Rev. D. E. Allen in a training school, classes being held at the Rupert Christian church each Tuesday evening for six week period. Dr. A. E. Johnson will also assist.

Mrs. F. P. Shy and son Wendell Shy left for Iowa and Missouri, visiting and on business. While there Wendell will leave to join the armed forces.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Johnson have returned from a month's visit in Los Angeles and San Francisco, Calif., with their three daughters and a son and families. Mr. Johnson had spent a short time in Phoenix, Arizona, with his brother, Otto Johnson. Mrs. Johnson visited in Salt Lake and Provo, Utah en route to California where she joined her husband.

New Forest Head Takes Over Post

HAILEY, [illegible] Forest Supervisor Charles M. Daugherty, with Mrs. Daugherty and their twin daughters, [illegible] and Norma, left Hailey for Salmon City, where Mr. Daugherty will be supervisor of the Salmon national forest.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Moore arrived the same day from Boise and Mr. Moore took over the duties of supervisor of the Sawtooth forest. Mr. and Mrs. Daugherty have been complimented at many social affairs the past two weeks.

GOP HEADS OKAY BARKLEY'S STAND

BOISE, Feb. 25 (AP)—Three Idaho Republican leaders Thursday viewed Sen. Alben W. Barkley's dispute with President Roosevelt over the tax bill as showing that "congress is ready to stand on its own two feet."

Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen declared, "Senator Barkley merely emphasized the growing feeling that congress will no longer serve as a 'rubber stamp' body. It clarifies the issues and indicates that at long last we are departing from the theory of government by executive directives." Bottolfsen is an announced candidate for the Republican nomination for the U. S. senate.

State Chairman Reilly Atkinson said Barkley's speech in the senate thrilled him "because I recognized in it another declaration of independence, a resurgence of principle and political integrity."

William Hendrix, chairman of the Ada county commission and a prospective candidate for the party's nomination for secretary of state, asserted, "Senator Barkley's action indicates to the people of America that congress is ready to stand on its own two feet and that it will not tolerate further attempts at dictation."

SCHOOL FOR LABOR PROBLEMS

Both organized labor and private ownership are here to stay. Everybody except a handful of ultra radicals and ultra conservatives will agree to that. But within what boundaries are they to stay? There you have the point at which unanimity of opinion vanishes.

We have been seeking the answer to that second question for years, not only without much success, but without much system. The search has been marked by improvisation and blundering, by hot heads and harsh words and bloodshed. War has brought us no closer to the solution. And the proposals and demands of most "postwar planners" do not offer much future promise.

But there is one cheering piece of news in the midst of all this chaos. A forthcoming bill in the New York state legislature, already assured of approval, will establish a school of industrial and labor relations at Cornell university, to begin operation next year under state control and support.

It will be open to representatives of management and labor—or to anyone interested, for that matter. All will be taught by the same instructors, and will tackle the same problems. The school's trustees will include under the proposed bill, the heads of the New York C. I. O. and A. F. of L., the presidents of the state Chamber of Commerce and the Associated Industries of New York state, two members of the state legislature, the state commissioner of education, and the president of Cornell. All of them, incidentally, have already approved the plan.

The school's opening is being delayed for a year because it is felt that a competent and unbiased faculty could not be assembled at present. That decision, besides being wise, is a pointed illustration of how short a way we have progressed toward solving perhaps the most delicate and difficult problem of our economic life.

This new school offers no sudden Utopia, of course. Its reason for being is predicated upon the assumption that labor and management are going to take it seriously. There is no orderly structure of tradition on which to build a curriculum. And if the interested parties bring their old animosities to school, and line up in the classroom like opposing armies, as they have too often done across the conference table, then the school's purpose will be defeated from the start.

But that doesn't mean that it is not a sane, logical and long-needed approach to the industrial relations problem. After the war we will not need more labor boards and strike legislation to solve it. What we will need is a transfer of this problem to the realm of "higher learning." And an institution devoted to just that seems a good place to start.

SIGN IN THE SKY

A strange and wonderful little story has come out of Italy, sent by a London paper's correspondent with the Mediterranean fleet. Above the port of Anzio, he declares, allied sailors saw a German plane being chased by its own glider-bomb.

"When last seen," the dispatch concludes, "the nazi plane was taking evasive action, grimly pursued by the missile."

Only the very obtuse mind, we feel, would choose to disbelieve this story. If it were contrived by the London correspondent, then he deserves to rank with Mrs. Shelley, who invented Frankenstein and his monster, or Goethe, who told the tale of the sorcerer's apprentice who set the broom to carrying water and then could not make it stop. But, without disparaging the correspondent's ability and imagination, we prefer to believe that he really saw the incident.

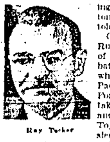
We cannot help feeling that a portent to Hitler appeared in the sky over Anzio. The rather amusing spectacle of his bearer of destruction being pursued, fury-like, by his own weapons, seems to us the perfect allegory of nazism.

When Hitler conceived the godlike project of ruling and judging the whole world, and of dealing out catastrophic punishment to those who disobeyed, he violated the laws of heaven and earth. And most of the earth has risen up against him. Already the bombs with which he destroyed, or hoped to destroy, London and Rotterdam, Warsaw and Leningrad and Belgrade, have pursued him to his own great cities and are smashing them to rubble. Already he is tasting a little of the vengeance of oppressed people who, in the day of liberation, will turn upon him the weapons of persecution which his armies brought to them.

And it may be that the amazing incident of Anzio is a sign that heaven is rising up against him, too. We should like to think that, in this small miracle, God has given notice that he has become bored with Hitler (as Victor Hugo explained the reason of Napoleon's downfall) and that Hitler's usurpation of God's wrath has gone far enough.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

ENTRENCHED—When Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur forecast a long war with Japan that can end only in a crushing defeat of its land forces, he merely voiced the opinion which top-ranking military strategists in Washington have held for months. But he told only half the story.



Ray Tucker

German resistance in Italy and Russia gives but a faint intimation of the violent and hara-kiri sort of battle the nipponese will put up when our forces advance across the Pacific. Even after the Philippines, Formosa and the Kuriles have been taken and used by the allies as air and naval bases, it is believed that Tojo will have a novel trick up his sleeve. Should he play it, the fighting in that area might last for years.

The Tokyo government, according to the view prevailing here, may pull up stakes, abandon Honshu island and retreat to the mainland of China, of Manchuria and the regions farther south. Factories, shipyards, railroads and barriers have been built since the acquisition of these territories from Chungking. The foe would occupy a powerful defensive position.

As MacArthur says, an offensive against an enemy so heavily entrenched would require millions of infantry and coordinating arms. It is the doughboy who must make the kill under such circumstances. The Japs' stand would admittedly be one of desperation, but that could not lessen the time or the hazards involved in the [illegible] of unconditional surrender terms.

HURT—President Roosevelt's associates wish that they could get anyone other than Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida or Joseph F. Guffey of Pennsylvania to speak for him for the fourth term. For these two happen to be among the most unpopular pals on capitol hill.

Mr. Guffey's rating was revealed when southerners recently addressed him simply by his last name in formal debate without the use of "mister" or the customary "honorable member." They should have been rebuked for their rudeness but the presiding officer withheld his gavel. The Keystone state legislator resigned as chairman of the Democratic senatorial committee; he would have been forced out had he not retired voluntarily.

The Florida man would probably rank second in any contest for the most disliked lawmaker. An incident in the last session provided courtroom evidence.

Sen. Robert R. Reynolds of North Carolina, chairman of military affairs, insisted that a certain measure should be referred to his group instead of to education and labor, headed by Elbert D. Thomas of Utah. In the floor argument Mr. Pepper demanded that the bill remain where it was, but he was overwhelmingly voted down. The transfer hurt the feelings of Mr. Thomas and he was obviously depressed.

Democratic leaders, however, assured him that the decision was neither a personal nor a parliamentary reflection on him. They explained that they could not side with Mr. Pepper and took this method of showing what they thought of him.

PLEASURE—Daniel J. Tobin's friends, especially traditional Republicans like John L. Lewis of the miners, William L. Hutcheson of the carpenters and Matthew Woll of the photo-engravers, are chuckling over the private and political plight of the head of the teamsters' union. And the burly, obstreperous ex-truck driver doesn't enjoy the joke.

Years ago his followers bought him a luxurious home in Miami in appreciation of the benefits he had gained for them through his close tieup with President Roosevelt. Mr. Tobin has served in three campaigns as head of the labor division of the Democratic national committee. In 1940 he persuaded F. D. R. to address his organization—an unprecedented action for a chief executive but a fine stroke for "the boss."

First chance Dan got to pay an extended visit to his Florida estate was this winter. Then he surprised the donors by announcing that the mansion was "too tony" for him and that he preferred his modest five-room apartment outside Indianapolis. He offered the structure to the union as a place for its tourist members to relax.

Real fact is that Mr. Tobin found that the taxes were excessively high and that sufficient help for the many-roomed residence was not available. Nor could he get the gas to drive around the pleasure resort in style. His G. O. P. buddies take pleasure in pointing out that these impediments are the indirect result of certain administration policies and urge him to complain to the White House.

FAVORITISM—Labor, particularly the million-odd railroad workers, is furious at the discovery that Economic Stabilizer Fred M. Vinson was given a 25 per cent increase at the very moment that he opposed approval of an eight cent an hour raise for them.

The anti-inflation official's salary was boosted from $12,500 to $15,000 a year, plus $628 as a bonus based on increased living costs.

The complainants note that the total hike of the White House aide's compensation exceeds by 10 per cent the advance allowed under the little steel formula. The question of favoritism will be raised by Philip Murray's C. I. O. lawyers at forthcoming war labor board hearings when they demand that this ceiling be abandoned.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

DO MARSHALLS GET THAT WAY?

You may have observed that gossip about the war and its famous or infamous characters usually is attributed to "a neutral diplomat," who remains safely cloaked in anonymity. So it is that we never really know about a canard of this origin—whether it is or it ain't. The latest story of the sort is that which was told in London—by our old friend, the neutral diplomat—of an incident said to have arisen at the Teheran love feast, when Premier Marshal Stalin threw a birthday party for Prime Minister Churchill. According to the narrator, the festivities were characterized by innumerable toasts. Since this is the common report of Russian social gatherings we can well believe it. And Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, hero of the red army, waxed ever more garrulous. Then arose Premier Marshal Stalin, and walked around to the rear of Timoshenko, with a bottle in hand. Without ire or excitement he belted the warrior over the head with the bottle—and Timoshenko sat down. "It always happens at every party," explained Stalin to Churchill, matter-of-factly.

To our way of thinking, this sprightly anecdote need not be marred by the fact that it never has been reported that Marshal Timoshenko was among those who assembled at Teheran. We prefer to dally with the fancy that he could have been there, and possibly was. It seems to us to be a story wholly in character, for Stalin is in many ways a direct actionist, and, as the anecdote tells, he and the Russian premier must often have drunk toasts together. Since there is always such an individual at every party, whether in Russia or elsewhere, why should it not have been in this instance the brave Timoshenko? For the matter of that, it is high time that sundry of the inside facts leaked out—we say "leaked" advisedly—about these formal Russian revels of the great. The phenomenal flow of spiritous liquors always is stressed in the news accounts—and then the veil is drawn. We are left to imagine what may conceivably befall the banqueteer who has drunk perhaps four-and-twenty toasts, or even more, in close sequence. If those medaled and gold-braided revelers were common folk we know full well what would happen to them. Does high distinction confer sobriety no matter how many toasts go down the gullet? The Timoshenko story reassures us somehow, although, truth to tell, it is a trifle rough on poor Tim, and not all flattering to that which one might style the social side of modern war.—Portland Oregonian.

A REMINDER

No one can forget the nazi doctrine that "justice is what is useful to the German people." It has produced a type of totally irresponsible hoodlums, many of whom now are in the nazi armed services. They are capable of such infractions of the rules of war and of humanity as the bombing and killing of patients, nurses and doctors at the Anzio beachhead.—Oregon Journal.

ANALYZING CURRENT NEWS FROM NEW YORK

SCARCITIES—There should be an abundance of new things to wear in the Easter parade.

Spokesmen of the New York national trade associations predict that the emphasis will be on wool suits for women. Although little half-hats will continue to be offered, many high crowns and Homburgs will be featured by milliners. White is expected to be the popular color.

Albert Leman

Shops in the majority of large cities are well stocked; shortages in scattered localities, however, will be experienced. Prospects for a sufficiency are better this season because the wise professional buyers placed their orders early. A clothes ration scare burst in the midst of the 1943 pre-Easter period; inventories were depleted in the panic which followed.

Customers will probably be more discriminate, demanding quality; the days when shoddy substitutes could be readily sold appear to have ended.

Scarcities in rayon and cotton will be evident in areas where adequate preparations were not or could not be made. The famine in cotton, especially in yarn, print goods and bed linens, may not be solved soon. Although civilian and military requirements are enormous, the output of mills dropped in January from one billion yards monthly to 800,000, owing chiefly to manpower stringencies, inefficiency of new hands and depreciated looms.

LEAKS—Supplies of rayon are low as a result of federal needs. The fabric is now utilized in making auto tires. Before the conflict cotton had a monopoly in this field; next year more than a 100 million pounds of artificial silk will be diverted to this purpose. Look for strenuous competition between the two rivals in peacetime.

One of the difficulties encountered by manufacturers of ladies' underwear is their inability to acquire elastics. The legitimate source is so small that many firms must either reject orders or patronize illicit and profiteering dealers. Factory owners will submit to gouging and produce goods which they sell below cost so that they can keep their machines operating.

To their sorrow they have learned that when they lay off employes, their workers find new jobs and never return when needed.

The black market scandal has grown so serious that, according to insiders in industry, it is the real—though unpublicized—reason for the government's recent freezing of synthetic rubber. All sorts of unaccountable "leaks" were discovered. Proprietors who followed the rules were placed at a disadvantage in offering buttons and strings while their competitors somehow managed to find precious elastics.

They kicked and Uncle Sam finally stepped in to stop the mysterious drainage.

COMBED—Intelligence memoranda describe drastic measures by the nazis to increase their manpower against the day of invasion.

Not only the loss of Italy but the decline in the number of Hungarian and Rumanian contingents cut a hole in the wehrmacht. But Berlin recruiting agencies appear to have offset the departure of their Balkan satellites by drawing heavily from the Baltic states. One of the objectives of the Russian drive toward the northern sea is to block this wellspring of enemy reinforcements.

Hitler is promising Estonia and Latvia greater independence in return for local troops. The enrollment of 10 divisions is under way. Landing barges built originally for "sailing to England" are now in Finnish ports for the purpose of bringing back the reichswehr garrisons stationed there.

Toilers are combed from nonessential industries and sent to the front. Recently the makers of gas and electric heaters en masse were ordered into uniforms.

A captured official document declares, "With 28 million workers, including war prisoners, we are employing more than double the number used in the fourth year of the first World war." It is believed that this statement is not an exaggeration.

NATIVES—Clear evidence of the miscarriage of one of the most grandiose axis schemes has lately been brought to light in India.

United States officers report that the camouflage in the famous Kyber pass has been removed, revealing gun emplacements and tank traps which the British had constructed when Rommel's armies were driving through Egypt for a union with their Japanese partners in the orient. The English high command planned a last-ditch resistance in the gorges on the northern frontier and erected barriers every couple of miles.

The cantonments and fields are now operated as training grounds for the newly organized Indian air force. Vengeance planes, manufactured in the U. S. A., patrol the gateways. The caste system is ignored by the men; all types, including Untouchables, eat together without prejudice.

The natives in the vicinity pose a problem for the commanders. They covet the leaden noses of practice bombs, which they use for bullet-making in the hills, and as a result they rush recklessly into target areas and salvage the metal even under bursting explosives.

TRUSTEE REPLACED

CASTLEFORD, Feb. 25 — The Castleford board of trustees met recently and elected Fritz Bybee to replace Charles Shorthouse. Dell Hudson was elected chairman to replace Charles Shorthouse.

HISTORY OF TWIN FALLS

AS GLEANED FROM THE FILES OF THE TIMES-NEWS

15 YEARS AGO, FEB. 25, 1929

The Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company will spend in Twin Falls this year more than $130,000 for building and equipment of a new telephone exchange, together with additional expenditures for the extension of the telephone service in rural districts, C. C. Harmon, Idaho plant superintendent for the company, announced.

R. E. Bobier, mayor, and T. J. Douglas, councilman, will be candidates for reelection along with Thomas Sanderson, who will be a candidate for councilman to succeed Ralph B. Smith, at the coming municipal election in Twin Falls, it was announced last evening.

27 YEARS AGO, FEB. 25, 1917

During the past week a number of permits for buildings described in The Times have been granted. The following is the list: James Darkman, residence; T. J. Woods, garage; A. R. Ostrander, garage; A. J. Peavey, business block; F. F. Smith, residence; Dr. George H. Caldwell, East Lawn, large bungalow; P. B. Johnson, store building.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Ernest White entertained at a bridge party at her home on Eighth avenue. The guests were Mrs. Wolfe, Mrs. Putnam, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Oleson, Mrs. Erickson, Miss Cashin, Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Chas. Hart, Mrs. Kungely and Mrs. Karls.

POT SHOTS

ANYBODY REMEMBER ABOUT THIS ONE?

Dear Pot Shots:

Thirty-five years ago about now my wife and I walked from Hotel Perrine across the sagebrush to the head of Perrine grade to look down upon a four-horse outfit, loaded with lumber from Shoshone, which had gone over the edge.

Carcasses of three of the four horses could be discerned in the wreckage. Since then I have neglected no opportunity to learn how that fourth horse was saved from going over the edge.

I have two versions, quite contradictory, by two persons who claimed to be of that company of freighters in that hazardous scramble across the ice on the grade that night.

Have the files in your office anything to offer on this accident during the first 14 days of February, 1909?

—C. C. M., Buhl

Pot's note: One of our assistants checked the files of both the Times and the News through February, 1909, and couldn't find a thing about this wreck. Can any of our constituents enlighten C. C. M. of Buhl?

QUARANTINE

Dear Pot Shots
and Mr. Sweeley:

Now, listen, Ev, if you are going to quarantine the land for noxious weeds, you gotta quarantine the wind and the water, too, also and besides. The seeds of those pests come both ways. I've seen thistle seeds blow, and the way the morning glory starts on ditch banks convinces me that they come in the water.

Then there is also a pest known as gremlins that should be quarantined. I know they are there, because soon as we get a place to live, a new patch or two of weeds appears for us and the county to fight. Does an unseen hand scatter the darned things, I says to myself? I got suspicions. But quarantine 'em all, says I.

FAMOUS LAST LINE

". . .Oh, he's in the cellar figuring out a trout fly guaranteed to catch anything! . . ."

THE GENTLEMAN IN THE THIRD ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

CHICAGO, Ill.—Perhaps I should not have written about Robert Stroud, the murderer who has spent the last 38 years in solitary confinement in Leavenworth and Alcatraz because now his press-agent is all over me with propaganda about his wonderful service to society in developing remedies for the diseases of birds and I can see no other safe course than to keep him locked up, and in solitary, until he dies. If it could be arranged to let him resume his studies that might be a good idea for he apparently has done work of considerable value to the poultry industry but he and his cult have brought themselves to a belief that he had a right, not an unusual and revocable privilege, to raise canaries in his solitary cell at Leavenworth and study their ills and carry on sales for profit by mail all over the country.

Westbrook Pegler

I say he "apparently" has done good work because I am not able to judge not knowing the difference between blackleg and the pip. His press-agent, L. G. Marcus, Minneapolis, who even has letter heads, proclaiming himself "agent" for Robert Stroud, says that if the prison authorities would really give the man facilities he could greatly curtail the loss of poultry, especially turkeys. He says also that Stroud has a way to shorten the war by means of something that could be made cheaply in any brewery but I don't believe that.

But if Stroud should be deemed to have a right to keep canaries and peddle them, then the next man would have an equal right to raise dogs or goats or pigeons and complications would ensue quickly. And the fact is that he did enjoy remarkable special privileges for a long time and lost them only because he has an ornery streak which makes him an imminent menace to his fellow-men and began to take serious liberties a little over a year ago. Just for that they whipped him off to Alcatraz where he can't keep so much as a sparrow and can't even associate with the company of the damned and forgotten all about him. However, the warden of Alcatraz did let him finish up his manuscript for his book on bird diseases, now issued at $5 a copy, of which one dollar goes into the bank to Stroud's credit. He would seem to have no use for money, however, except to hire lawyers to discover what he knows already, namely, that he can never get out and can't even get out of solitary. Stroud has killed two men, one of them a Leavenworth guard, and stabbed a third, a prisoner, and the prison system has been unusually patient with him.

There are a number, not many proportionately, but a number, of remarkable prisoners in federal and state institutions who have whiled away the days and years and stood off the rot by study. One is a mathematician and another from whom I receive occasional letters smuggled into the mail, has become an impressive writer although he was just an ignorant, murderous little gutter-snipe when he went up more than 20 years ago. Warden Lawes, formerly of Sing Sing, who knows this one has said that he should be released now or never for if he stays much longer he won't be able to adjust himself to the outside.

Stroud feels very sorry for himself and so do the members of the little cult of canary breeders who think he should be allowed to carry on his work. They have lost sight of the fact that he is twice a killer and once was condemned and received the gift of life by favor from President Wilson in 1916. However, it would be cruel not to try to imagine his own frame of mind and he certainly has good reason to feel that he has done something to justify that gift. It is hardly a question now of payment of his debt to society. The weight of that debt cannot be measured against his contribution to the world but his record proves that he is not a man to be trusted at liberty and anyone who took responsibility for letting him out might be responsible any day for the death of one or more innocent persons.

The prison system might, however, find a way to make use of its Strouds. The revocation of his privilege to raise birds was an act of impatience and convenience. He had been obstreperous after years in special status and his bird business was a physical nuisance and a tax on the prison facilities. But actually he could still be kept guarded in solitary and allowed to have his birds and continue his contributions to knowledge of an important subject in which few men possess equal information because so few are interested. That, however, is about the best that can be said for Mr. Stroud.

Admiral Turner Grows Roses When He Is Not Killing Japs

(Editor's note: Rear Adm. Richard Kelly Turner, commander of the amphibious force of the U. S. Pacific fleet, is the subject of the following dispatch, another in a series on the leaders of America's new thrust against Japan's central Pacific defenses.)

By BOYD LEWIS
(United Press)

Rear Adm. Richmond Kelly (Terrible) Turner cultivates prize roses and a hatred of the Japanese.

Emperor Hirohito once clasped Turner by the hand and vowed eternal friendship between Japan and the United States. Turner, then a cruiser captain, had sailed his ship, the Astoria, to Tokyo in 1939 to return the body of Ambassador Hiroshi Saito, who had died in the United States.

Turner's fondest hope is to pay a return call and when he does Hirohito had better have neither his hand nor his neck extended.

Many Dead Japs

Terrible Turner is seeing lots of dead Japanese nowadays but they are not being returned ceremoniously to their homeland. They are being buried right on the spot in places like Kwajalein and Eniwetok.

Turner is the naval half of the amphibious team of Turner and Smith. Smith is Maj. Gen. Holland M., of the marines.

"Troops are only good when they're on shore," says Turner. "All of our forces are used to facilitate passage of troops. After the troops are ashore it's my job to move in additional supplies and run convoys."

Turner's first big job of "facilitating the passage of troops" was the Solomons campaign. There is a Washington legend that Turner drew up the plans while assigned to the navy department there and submitted them to President Roosevelt. The President is supposed to have nodded approval and said:

"Admiral, you have drawn up the plans; now go out and execute them."

Decorated for Service

Turner got the distinguished service medal and the navy cross for his success in obeying that directive. The citation mentioned his "exemplary spirit of aggression."

He is tall, erect and distinguished. His hair is grizzled and thin on top. His eyebrows are a diabolical fringe above steel-grey eyes. Perhaps because he has "the longest Irish upper lip in the navy," he is known to his contemporaries as "Kelly" rather than by his first name. A few long-time intimates call him by his naval academy nickname, "Spuds."

A fiery warrior on his flag bridge, impatient with a hesitant officer, quick in battle decision, Turner likes to relax in his flower garden.

"Roses," he says, "are wonderful."

Students of naval warfare who praised him for his strategy in the Solomons campaign got only a snort of derision from Kelly Turner:

"Hell," he said, "I'm no strategist. I just love to kill Japs."

Must Have Losses

His philosophy with regard to losses is equally forthright:

"You've got to be philosophical. If you don't have losses you aren't doing enough."

Turner entered the naval academy from Stockton, Calif., and was a member of the track team and editor of the 1908 publication, "The Lucky Bag." He served aboard the U. S. S. Michigan during World war I. He won his wings at the Pensacola naval air station in 1927.

He perfected the amphibious warfare plans he now executes while director of the war plans division of the chief of naval operations just before Pearl Harbor. He was a natural choice for commander of the amphibious force of the U. S. fleet. He knew the plan and he had the fortitude to execute it.

Guadalcanal, the Russell islands and New Georgia were crossed off Turner's checklist in a succession of successful amphibious invasions. Then came the startling thrust which has carried American forces to Eniwetok. Kelly Turner is a long way from his rose garden.

Aidettes Guests at Hunt

Twenty of the Twin Falls USO aidettes were invited to a chicken dinner and dance by members of the 322nd military police escort guard company at the soldiers' recreation rooms at Hunt Thursday evening.

Accompanying the aidettes were chaperones, Mrs. R. P. Parry and Mrs. Harry Benoit. Sgt. John Lepore at Hunt was in charge of the party arrangements. Handkerchief favors were given to each of the girls attending.

National YWCA Officer Is Feted By Local Group

Honoring Miss Esther Briesmeister, national Y. W. C. A. secretary, Mrs. W. R. Chase entertained the local Y. W. C. A. board members at her country home.

Miss Briesmeister gave an informal talk on Y. W. C. A. activities and projects, offering many suggestions.

During the afternoon Mrs. R. L. Reed, local secretary, handed in her resignation.

Tea was served at the close of the afternoon from a lovely lace covered table centered with sweet peas. Mrs. William Baker presided at the service.

Special guests at the luncheon were the Y. W. C. A. council from Filer.

Mrs. Chase, local chairman, announced that applications for the local secretary position can be phoned to Mrs. William Baker at 958 or Mrs. H. H. Burkhart, 1571.

CARE OF YOUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

Any boy or girl who has the chance to get a high school diploma and does not work hard to get it, is foolish. Any boy or girl who does not bend every ounce of strength he has to make a good record in high school is more than foolish. That record, and that diploma are the first requirement in a successful career in this country.

There was a time when only the most fortunate of our boys and girls could go to high school. There were few high schools in the country and most of them were private schools and costly. That has been changed. Today there are high schools in most of our larger towns and all of our cities and any ambitious boy or girl may enter.

These schools are careful to make courses to fit many sorts of students. There are schools that have courses that lead to college, others that lead to vocations, professions, trades. Any boy or girl who had the intelligence that allowed them to be graduated from elementary school can, and should, go to high school, and stay there until he wins his diploma.

Jobs Easy to Get Now

It is easy now to get work and the money is tempting. Any boy or girl who drops out of high school to get a job today is not using his head. He is allowing his childish desires to overcome his more mature common sense and judgment. He is not growing up but holding back in childhood, still asking for a penny to buy candy, when what he needs and must have is the training and education that will allow him to take his place among the best of his group as a worthwhile adult. You cannot be an infant and a full-grown personality at the same time. The foolish ones try it and drop school for the candy-job.

Young people who have no education beyond the elementary schools are going to have to stay on the lower levels of industry and watch those who stayed for their diplomas, for extra training, take the high places. That has happened before and it is happening right now. As our social life becomes more complicated by the machines, the speed, the higher standards of workmanship demand the higher training. The first question asked the candidate for any job is your education, training, experience?

Don't Sell Out Your Future

No longer will the elementary school diploma get the candidate any consideration for a high place and a good salary. Today every boy and girl is expected to go through high school at least. Any one of them who has not that diploma, or its equivalent, is going to be suspected as one who did not have the necessary ability to win the diploma of a secondary school.

Any boy or girl with ambition to succeed in the years to come must get down to work, make a fine record in high school and win a diploma. Those that do not, when the opportunity is theirs, are foolish for they are selling out their future and their children's future —for what?

People often smile at an infant's play, but it is no trifling matter. Angelo Patri calls it "fundamental to a child's growth" in his leaflet, "Infant's Play," No. P-16. To obtain a copy send five cents (coin preferred) to him in care of Times-News, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

G.O.P. Session

Program Honors Filer Boys, Girls Now in Services

FILER, Feb. 25—A program dedicated to the boys and girls in service and their mothers, was given at a meeting of the Filer Woman's club in the Methodist church basement.

Mothers of service boys, the Rev. and Mrs. E. L. White and Mrs. Willis Sampson, Hansen, were special guests.

The Rev. Mr. White gave a tribute to the boys and girls in service. He introduced Mrs. Sampson, who reviewed the book, "Being a Real Person," by Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick. Miss Georgia Lou Erhardt gave two piano solos and Roger Vincent, with his mother at the piano, gave two vocal solos.

Mrs. J. M. Jamerson was in charge of group singing and Mrs. Raymond Thomas led the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Each mother present with a boy or girl in service told where they are stationed. Tea was served from a lace covered table. The centerpieces were small figures of George and Martha Washington placed on a mirror. On either side were crystal candelabra filled with pink tapers. Tea and coffee services completed the table appointments. Mrs. C. B. McCoy and Mrs. Jay Cobb poured.

Hostesses were Mrs. L. W. Hawkins, Mrs. Art Kistler, Mrs. B. Sikes and Mrs. Edward Reichert.

Lions at Rupert Fete Ladies and Guests at Party

RUPERT, Feb. 25—Rupert Lions club entertained Monday evening at Rogers club cafe at a 7 o'clock dinner for ladies' night, 60 persons being present with A. L. May acting as toastmaster.

Community singing was led by Frank Watson and other musical numbers were vocal solos by Ronald Bingham and Frank Watson and a piano solo by Lund Christensen. Bob Hinkley, Burley, district governor of Lions clubs of Idaho, conducted the initiation ceremony and presented membership pins to three new members, Herbert May, Dr. L. D. Hyde and Loren Carter; two candidates, F. McCulley and R. M. Fagg were not present.

Ralph McCloy talked on Lionism and Miss Rose Jaskowski, Burley, gave a chalk talk. Two membership teams have been in the field for some time, the losing team being hosts Monday evening; chairmen of the two teams was Deputy Sheriff Jake Wall and Don Dafoe. Dr. O. A. Moellmer was chairman of the winning team.

Guests from the Burley Lions club besides District Governor Hinkley were Joe Peters, president of the Burley club, and Mrs. Peters; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pullin and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. May. Following the dinner and program dancing was enjoyed to music furnished by Lund Christensen, Mrs. P. B. Rogers and DeVerl Hurst.

LDS Program Has Patriotic Theme

JEROME, Feb. 25—In commemoration of George Washington's birthday anniversary a patriotic program was presented at the L.D.S. church with the help of the auxiliaries of the church during the second ward meeting.

The meeting was conducted by Eldon Thompson, the young men's association president and prelude was by Miss Gwen Stocks. Invocation was by Thomas Newman.

Mrs. B. E. Tilby read the scripture. The primary organization, under the direction of Mrs. Nile Matthews, presented the skit, "The Making of The Flag." Charles Andrus, jr., played George Washington. Others taking part were Edith Shaw, Kathleen Hendrickson, Connie Anderson and Shirley Thompson. Mrs. Alta Durrant played the accompaniment for musical selections.

Nile Matthews sang a solo, accompanied by Miss Gwen Stocks.

A one act play was presented and directed by Mrs. Audrena Thompson, drama director.

Members of the Relief society, singing mothers choir, sang, directed by Mrs. Madge Gibbons. Mrs. Durrant accompanied. Mrs. Hazel Burnham, also representing the Sunday school, gave a reading.

The closing song was led by Mrs. Gertrude Henderson.

Walter Terry gave benediction.

Helen F. Brown, Sgt. Don Mahoney Wed in Nebraska

Mrs. P. B. Johnston, jr., Twin Falls, announces the marriage of her sister, Miss Helen Frances Brown, to Sgt. Donald Mahoney, radio gunner in the army air corps stationed at Alliance, Neb. The ceremony was performed Saturday, Feb. 19, by the chaplain at the air base.

Simply attired in a beige gabardine suit, the bride wore a blue off-the-face hat, a white blouse and corsage of orchids. A strand of pearls was her only jewelry.

Serving as best man was Sgt. L. B. Shehan, and Sgt. John Jerola was the other attendant. The bridegroom will be stationed at Alliance until March 20, when he will be transferred to a North Carolina air base. His bride will remain with him until he is called for overseas duty.

Mrs. Mahoney, who was Miss Helen Brown of Twin Falls, was a graduate of Twin Falls high school in 1941. Previous to her marriage to Sergeant Mahoney, she was employed in the office of the United Airlines at San Francisco. She is the daughter of the late Mrs. Pearl Brown, Twin Falls, and C. H. Brown, Long Beach, Calif.

Sergeant Mahoney was graduated in 1942 from Twin Falls high school where he was prominent in athletics. He is the son of Frank Mahoney, formerly of Twin Falls, now living at Phoenix, Ariz.

The couple are living near the air base at Alliance, until March 1, when Sergeant Mahoney will be transferred to North Carolina.

HEYBURN AND DECLO TAKE LEAD IN MINI-CASSIA TOURNEY

Albion Rings up 17 Free Throws; Carey in Wood River Title Game

RUPERT, Feb. 25—Coach Melvin Gruwell's Albion quintet stole the show in the second round of games in the Mini-Cassia sub-district round robin basketball tournament here last night.

In defeating Malta, 39-25, the Albion team made the same number of field goals as its opponent, but made good on 17 of 19 free throws for a new 1943-44 Magic Valley record in this respect.

In the setting of the team record, Jack Hepworth, Albion's star guard, was the featured performer. He made 10 out of 11, also a new mark.

Albion jumped into the lead at the outset and was in front, 9-2, at the end of the first quarter. However, in the second, Malta, led by its star guard, Smith, who made 12 points to tie Hepworth and Rowe of Albion, rang up eight points to three for its opponent and trailed only 12-10. Albion had trouble shaking Malta off its trail in the third frame and led by the narrow margin of 22-20 at its conclusion. However, Gruwell's lads made 17 points in the final to Malta's five.

Five for Five

L. Tremayne also did some fine shooting from the charity line, scoring five without a miss.

However Declo and Heyburn continued to lead in the tournament after two nights of play, each marking up its second victory.

Declo experienced little trouble in defeating Paul, 51-35. Paul gave Coach L. D. Anderson's quintet a scare in the first period when it jumped into a 5-2 lead, but the Hornets soon got rolling and led, 14-8, at the end of the first quarter. They were in front, 23-16, at the half and 36-26 after three frames.

Nine of the 10 players used by Anderson participated in the scoring. However, C. Clark claimed some honors for Paul by making six out of seven free throws, which with five field goals made him the high-point man of the evening.

17 Points for Holmes

With Holmes making seven field goals and three free throws for 17 points, Heyburn defeated Acequia, 39-30. Acequia gave the Mini-Cassia conference champions a scare in the final period when it climbed to within four points of the leaders at 29-25.

Heyburn led, 9-5, at the end of the first quarter; 24-11 at the half and 27-18 entering the final frame.

Beginning at 10 a. m. Friday, Albion will oppose Heyburn, Declo will meet Malta and Paul will engage Acequia. Friday night Heyburn and Malta will meet, Paul will match Albion and Declo will be Acequia's opponent.

HAILEY, Feb. 25—Coach Don Blakeley's Carey high school quintet, coming back from a first round defeat, last night earned the right to meet Hailey at 8 p. m. Friday for the championship of the Wood River sub district tournament.

Carey won from its first round conqueror, the Gooding State school last night, 22-14.

Carey's fine defense in the first quarter, when Gooding State was held scoreless, and in the final frame, when the Gooding lads were held to one point, really won the game for Blakeley's team.

The eventual winners rang up six points in the first quarter but could only make two in the second while the state school five was making nine to take the lead. However, in the third the Carey offense got under way again and Blakeley's team finished the frame on the long end of a 17-13 score.

The tournament is a double elimination affair and if Carey defeats Hailey Friday night, another game the following evening will be necessary as Hailey is undefeated in the tournament.

Bellevue, the other tournament entrant, was eliminated by Hailey Wednesday night.

Damsiters Win

AMERICAN FALLS, Feb. 25 (AP)—Favored American Falls eliminated Thomas in the second round of sub-district class B basketball tourney here Thursday, defeating the Bingham county quintet 29 to 23.

Aberdeen gave Thomas its first defeat Wednesday night, 31 to 18.

In this afternoon's other game Aberdeen walloped Rockland, 58 to 16. Rockland edged Moreland last night, 21 to 19.

Golf Club to Modernize

BUHL, Feb. 25—A completely modern golf course will be the result of the improvements that the Buhl Golf club plans to make at its Clear lakes site this summer.

In preparation for making the improvements, the club has disposed of its Melon valley farm property, according to an announcement made at a dinner and business meeting held at the home of Mrs. Allen this week.

The club elected Jack Pence a new member of the board of directors. Reelected were Jack Tingey and Roy Fait. Other members of the board are C. C. Voeller, A. E. Kliss, Harry Barry, Fred Harting, E. M. Tomlinson and Hadley Barker.

Shoshone Gains 20th Straight With Victory Over Fairfield

DIETRICH, Feb. 25—Coach Elmer Eddington's Shoshone Redskins ran their season's record to 20 victories without a defeat when they defeated Fairfield, 35-15, in the opening round of games in the north side sub-district tournament here last night.

The Redskins took a 15-4 lead in the first quarter, 26-6 in the second and 29-13 after three periods.

Powell, star Redskin center, made 15 points. However, Wokersien, Fairfield forward, made five out of eight free throws, which with two field goals gave him nine points for the evening.

The showing of Dietrich was one of the big surprises of the opening night. L. W. Haight's aggregation defeated Richfield, 40-22, in a game which saw the host team blank its rival, 10-0, in the first quarter.

Dietrich had a 19-8 lead at the half and 33-15 entering the final period.

Bob Ballard, star forward, made eight field goals and three free throws for 19 points to set the scoring pace.

Tonight Richfield will meet Fairfield in the first game, while Shoshone and Dietrich will be the contenders in the second.

Glenns Ferry, King Hill Win Opening Tournament Battles

GLENNS FERRY, Feb. 25—King Hill and Glenns Ferry were the winners in the opening round of games in the King Hill sub-district tournament here last night.

King Hill defeated Bliss, 23-11, after trailing, 3-2 in the first quarter. However, the Hilltoppers took a 10-7 lead at the half and were going away, 19-11, when the final frame was reached.

The Pilots, one of the favorites for the district crown, defeated Hagerman, 40-20. Hagerman led, 11-8, at the end of the first quarter, but Coach Gene Cooper's lads took a 17-11 advantage at the half. They led, 31-14, after three periods.

Eden, Hazelton and Hollister Take Lead in Kimberly Event

KIMBERLY, Feb. 25—Eden, Hazelton and a darkhorse quintet, Hollister, took the lead in the south side sub-district tournament here last night, each with two victories and one defeat after three nights of play.

Eden triumphed over Murtaugh, 39-29, in the opening game, which was much closer than the score indicated. Eden led, 9-7 at the end of the first quarter, but Murtaugh rallied and tied the score, 16-16, at the half.

At the end of the third quarter it still was either team's game as Eden led only 26-25. However, Murtaugh, which lost two of its regulars on four personals, could make only four points in the final frame while Eden was ringing up 13.

Hazelton Triumphs

Hazelton won over Castleford, 30-21, after the score was tied, 9-9, at the end of the first quarter and Coach Cle Prince's quintet was in front only by 13-12 at the half. However, Hazelton grabbed a 20-15 lead during the third quarter.

Pat Ross rang up eight field goals and three free throws for 19 points for Hazelton.

Hollister set the pace all the way in defeating Kimberly, 22-18. Coach Irvin's quintet took an 8-5 lead during the first quarter and increased its advantage to 15-10 at the half. Miss Jean Parsons' Bulldogs rallied in the third period, scoring seven points to Hollister's four, but were able to make only one point in the final frame.

Hollister Meets Eden

Friday, beginning at 7 p. m., Kimberly will meet Castleford. Eden will oppose Hollister, and Murtaugh will do battle with Hazelton.

Big Seven to Wind up Regular Play Tonight

With the exception of a postponed game and a contest between the Twin Falls Bruins and Gooding Senators here Tuesday night, the Magic Valley will ring down the curtain on its regular season tonight.

The postponed game is that between Buhl and Gooding, which will be played on the Solons' floor on the night of March 3.

The Rupert Pirates and Jerome Tigers will meet tonight in a game that will officially close the Big Seven conference season. A tie for third place with Buhl will be the prize for the winner.

The present standing of the conference are:

Team	W	L
Oakley	9	1
Burley	[illegible]	1
Buhl	4	6
Rupert	3	6
Jerome	3	[illegible]
Filer	1	9

Oakley and Burley will meet on the Bobcats' floor this evening but the game will have no bearing on the conference championship. It is merely an exhibition contest arranged before the start of the season.

The Bruins are on the road. They will wind up a disastrous Big Five conference season tonight at Pocatello and then tomorrow night will journey to Idaho Falls to play that former member of the conference.

The class B teams ended their regular season's play last week and are now engaged in five sub-district tournaments. The winners in two and the runners-up in three will enter the district tournament set for March 9, 10 and 11 at Wendell. At the same time the class A tournament will be staged in Twin Falls.

If you see a sailor gent about [illegible] who looks quite a bit [illegible] body that's Jack Lalanne, not "Sweet" Lalanne of the [illegible] of football fame but Lalanne the weight lifter.

He is stationed at the Sun Valley convalescent hospital where he is doing almost magical things in the development of men's bodies, some-

$10 Well Spent

Dr. George H. Toolson over at Burley has spent a lot of time and money in the promotion of athletics as all the Magic Valley knows. But he spent $10 along that line the other day he'll probably tell you he got more than a $10 kick out of.

He offered that sum to his son, Bill, one of the stars of Coach Rulon Budge's Big Seven co-champions the Burley Bobcats, if he'd make 10 points in the contest with the Bobcats' ancient rivals, the Rupert Pirates, a victory in which Burley needed in his title quest.

Bill must have needed the $10 awfully bad, because he made the first 10 points of the game—and all but two which the Bobcats made in the last half.

And that's something of which Earl H. Carlson, principal of Burley grade school, says all the sports-loving dads should take note.

For instance there was that friend of the [illegible] one who took up the sport because of the promise of a weight-lifter that it would alleviate the after-effects of his bouts with thing that he began doing years ago with his own and others at his two gyms in Oakland, Calif.

Ye Olde Sport Scrivener has been interested in weight-lifting and weight-lifters for some time, not that he has ever participated in the sport but because of the near miracles he has seen it perform.

the flowing bowl—such as an oversized bay window and the dark brown taste that persisted in appearing in his mouth each morning. And you know this old word puddler kinda envied that guy because the weight-lifter made good on his promise.

Lalanne probably has performed such pleasant miracles. Up at Sun Valley he promises the sailors that if they will follow his methods with the large array of bars and dumbbells he has installed there he'll put three more inches on their chests and an inch on their muscles although he's done considerably more along that line on himself.

YOSS hasn't interviewed Mr. Lalanne on the subject but if he's like other weight-lifters to whom this writing gent has talked, he'll emphatically deny that his course with the bars and dumbbells makes for the so-called muscle boundness as most everyone thinks. Rather, he'll tell you that his course will allow a subject to handle his body more easily and gracefully.

Lalanne started in the weight-lifting business on himself when he was 13 years of age and found it so beneficial that he took it up as a career so that others might also benefit. He claims three weight-lifting records. The one of which he is the most proud is the hand-stand press-up that he boosted from 26 to 42 pounds. He also has done 165 pounds in the two-arm pull-up and 215 pounds in the right-arm get-up.

All of which Ye Old Sport Scrivener notes is quite "sweet," even though this Lalanne hasn't that prefixed to his name like the lady in the song or the football player.

New Orleans Open Begins

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 25 (AP) — Rugged Melvin "Chick" Harbert stole the spotlight from a crack field of professionals yesterday with a four-under-par 68 in a pro-amateur tourney preliminary to today's $5,000 New Orleans open.

Harbert, a thick-chested army private now on temporary leave from the army air forces training command at Lincoln, Neb., slammed into the limelight with a series of uncommonly long drives over the wind-swept city park course. He registered six birdies.

Jimmy Hines and Harold "Jug" McSpaden, standout of the winter golf circuit, each carded a 70 for second place honors and Byron Nelson posted a one-over-par 73.

Hines, with two New Orleans amateurs, won the pro-amateur feature with a best-ball score of 62. It was worth $100 in bonds.

NAZI ERRORS AT ANZIO REVEALED

ON THE ANZIO BEACHHEAD, Feb. 23—(Delayed)—(AP)—The German army's weakness in materiel and morale are exposed to world view in the drawn-out battle of the beachhead 25 miles below Rome.

Twice this month the nazis have boasted that Field Marshal Albert Kesselring's 14th army was poised for a knockout blow.

But the German army, like the old gray mare, is not what it used to be. Somewhere—on the Russian steppes or in the African desert—it apparently lost its will to win.

Many Mistakes

If battles are won by the general making the fewest mistakes than the Germans already have lost this one.

Among the now glaring German mistakes are these:

1. Underestimation of the fighting strength of the allied forces around Anzio and consequently the failure to build up a striking force with an advantage in size of at least two to one.

2. The failure to equal or exceed the allies in firepower and unity of artillery action.

3. Helter skelter mixture of infantry units in a single operation. Companies from different battalions and battalions from different divisions are thrown into conglomerate forces and suddenly thrust into strange sectors under new commanders.

Timing Is Bad

4. Bad timing, both as to the start and continuity of attacks which the allies were prepared in advance to break. Teutonic stubbornness in persisting with an operation ill-fated from the outset cost thousands of lives on several occasions. On the other hand certain attacks were discontinued just when a big tactical advantage had been won.

5. Phoney pep talks to fresh troops based on impossible promises that the beachhead would be crushed within a matter of hours or days. After such talks the troops were mentally unprepared for the hurricane fury of British-American shellfire and the bitter resistance of entrenched allied infantry. Their disillusionment was followed by apathy and lack of aggressive spirit.

"Pillar of Peace" Discussion Topic

RUPERT, Feb. 25—The Rev. E. I. Ikenberry, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, Twin Falls, addressed a large audience at the L.D.S. tabernacle on the fourth "Pillar of Peace."

Rev. Mr. Ikenberry was for many years a missionary in China and will return to that country in the near future.

He pointed out that "the peace must proclaim the goal of autonomy for subject peoples, and, it must establish international organization to assure and to supervise the realization of that end."

The Rt. Rev. Frank A. Rhea of Boise, will speak next Monday evening, Feb. 28 on the "Fifth Pillar of Peace."

Music was provided by the high school glee club directed by DeVerl Hurst.

GUNNER ON CARGO VESSEL RETURNS

SEATTLE, Feb. 25 — Coxswain Howard L Malone, attached to the U. S. naval armed guard center, New Orleans, La., recently returned from sea duty as a member of a naval gun crew assigned to an American merchant vessel, it was announced by the 13th naval district. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herchel E. Malone of 1206 7th Ave East, Twin Falls.

Malone joined the navy Dec. 15, 1941. During his recent 10 months at sea he visited ports in Great Britain and Canada. The 22-year old petty officer is a veteran of 22 months afloat and has visited Australia, New Zealand, South America, the Caribbean, New Hebrides and Central America.

A graduate of Twin Falls high school in 1940, he was employed by the Brodrick and Gordon Construction company, Salt Lake City, prior to entering the service. He took his "boot training" at San Diego, Calif., before being assigned to the armed guard as a merchant ship gunner.

At Last—Blaine Gets Heavy Snow

HAILEY, Feb. 25 The Wood river country woke up Monday morning to that long expected snow storm.

In a 24-hour period starting Sunday at midnight eight inches of snow fell, bringing smiles to the faces of farmers and winter sports enthusiasts alike. Skies are still overcast and there may be more.

As taken from a report of the U. S. forest service dated Feb. 21, Hailey now has 15 inches against 32 inches this time last year. Ketchum has 18 inches against 45 inches in 1943. Galena measures 25 whereas they had 72 inches last year and Baldy has 40 inches, with 85 inches in 1943. Soldier ranger station measures 22 inches, but in 1943 had 61 inches. Measurements from other points were not available.

Total snowfall at Hailey has been 45 inches from Oct. 1, with total precipitation 4.73 inches. One year ago the precipitation came to 14.27 inches. On an average year it has been 8.21 inches. At the Soldier creek ranger station a total of 65 inches of snow has fallen, against 177 inches in 1943. Total precipitation has been 9.22 inches, while last year it was 22.55 inches, with an average of 14.33 inches. Against the 45 inches of snow received at Hailey so far stands an average of 88.68 inches and last years record of 91.75 inches.

BATTLE OF PARRY GLORIFIED YANKS

By PERCY FINCH

(Reuters' War Correspondent, Representing the Combined Allied Press)

(Distributed By The Associated Press)

ABOARD U. S. FLAGSHIP, EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Eniwetok Atoll, Marshall Islands, Feb. 23 (Delayed) — Parry island, last Jap stronghold of Eniwetok atoll, fell to victorious American forces at 7:30 p.m. yesterday, Washington's birthday, after a battle which added new luster to American arms.

In ten and a half hours of the toughest fighting of the Eniwetok operation, the 22nd marines secured the island, not only ending resistance on Eniwetok atoll but completing the American conquest of the Marshalls.

Billowing brown clouds of smoke which changed to a red furnace at night time after the island was blasted and raked with shellfire, were the funeral pyre of Japan's 24 years of occupation of the Marshalls and the beacon light for the advance of the American front line 2,300 miles from Pearl Harbor and 800 miles further than at the campaign's beginning.

Fall Reported

News of Parry's fall was jubilantly reported from the island to Rear Adm. H. W. Hill aboard the flagship in a message saying:

"We present you with Parry Island at 7.30 p. m., as a Washington's birthday present. Will be glad to turn it over to the 106th infantry early tomorrow."

The battle was short, but brought out the fine mettle of the marines, it meant dogged, hand to hand fighting every yard for every foxhole from the minute they landed in the morning and surmounted the strongly held sand ridge running the length of the lagoon side of the thickly wooded island until they reached the southwest tip at nightfall.

This formidable task was complicated by defense uncertainties. Guarding the deep channel leading to the lagoon from the east, Parry is the strongest island and the Japs never revealed themselves when the fleet steamed by five days previously and the warships' guns swept the island tip.

Heavy Bombardment

Marines landed at 9:03 a.m. after a terrific bombardment. Gunboats moved in close to shore and peppered the 2,400 yard beach stretch while battleships, cruisers and destroyers poured in a heavy weight of metal, climaxing three days and nights of effort. They used everything they had.

The battalions landed according to a plan organized for the attack and commenced their drive down the island.

It was tough going. Beyond the Jap log pillboxes and trenches along the beach the island was a mass of foxholes cleverly hidden and dug deep in the sandy terrain which was among the highest of the Marshalls group.

Marines rested happily after the battle, knowing that the battle of Eniwetok had cost the Japanese 3,000 killed, and nearly 12,000 killed in the Marshalls.

The safest place to be, accident statisticians report, is in bed.

GERMAN CHANNEL DEFENSE STRONG

LONDON, Feb 25 (AP)—Why don't we hurl large forces across the channel and end the war?

This is a question many Americans and Britons are asking. The blunt answer is: "Because the Germans might fling them right back at us."

If just the opening of a western front would bring victory, it would be a different question, but it is going to take weeks and months of the bloodiest kind of fighting on the continent before Hitler collapses.

More Than Landing

Because this task is more than one of a mere landing of 50 divisions. In the average man's mind a division means about 15,000 men, but the experience in Africa, Sicily and Italy indicate that to supply one fighting man at the front it takes from four to eight behind the front when bases are thousands of miles away and supplies must be unloaded from ships to smaller craft, unloaded on land and carried to depots, sorted and then taken to the front.

The longer men must fight on foreign soil the more essential do the behind-the-lines soldiers become as the war moves away from the ports and supply becomes more complex. Therefore, a division to a military man means handling not 15,000 men, but 60,000 or more. Once they are ashore it takes tons of shipping to keep them going.

This is known as the tail of an army.

Nazis Boost Strength

When one recognizes that the Germans have been able to boost their strength along the west wall to 60 divisions it is easy to understand the determination of the allied high command not to move until it is certain that the punch will carry through to victory.

Despite countless thousands of dead left in Russia, the German army must suffer much more killing before a collapse comes. Their reserves have been drained almost dry by the Russian front but their frontline strength is almost as formidable as ever and not until the decimated divisions cannot be replaced is the end near for Hitler.

Annual Election For Jerome C of C

JEROME, Feb. 25—Annual election meeting of the Jerome senior chamber of commerce will be held here Wednesday, March 15, beginning with a 7 p. m. dinner in the Wood cafe banquet rooms. Four members will be named to the board of directors.

Ballots were sent out this week by the secretary to every chamber of commerce member, and each member is expected to return their ballot with eight names marked for a particular office. The eight persons receiving the most votes will have their names on the ballot during election. The four highest will be named to the board.

Board members whose terms expire at this time include William W. Weigle, Tadd Nelson, Bryan Henry and Bill Grant. Holdovers are Dr. R. C. Matson, Frank M. Rettig, John W. Hosman and Al Woodhead.

Following election of the new board, a chairman will be named.

New Owners Take Buhl Sport Shop

BUHL, Feb 25 Walter Graybeal, Castleford and Harry Murray, Filer, have purchased the Buhl Sport shop on the corner of Broadway and Main from W. C. Gannon and Roy Heyer.

Both the new owners are experienced in the business and own shops in other towns. They took immediate possession.

Gannon, a captain in the army engineers, has been in the south Pacific since April, 1942. He has been in the service since the fall of 1940. His wife, Mrs. Alta Gannon, Buhl, acted as agent in the transaction.

Roy Heyer, who has been in charge of the business since Gannon entered the army, now expects navy induction.

Jerome Man Is NFL President

JEROME, Feb. 15—J. E. Nielsen, Jerome, was elected president of the board of directors of the National Farm Loan association, at the annual business-election meeting held here Wednesday. Burley E. Craig, Jerome, was named vice-president.

Board of appraisal members are J. E. Nielsen, C. Y. Williamson and Craig. Alternates are Tom Smith and Arthur Bird.

Preceding the reorganization meeting Burley Craig was reelected to the board of directors. Others are Nielsen, Williamson, Bird and Tom Smith.

J. E. Bailey, Gooding, was reelected as secretary-treasurer while Mrs. Shirley Pierce, Jerome, was named assistant secretary-treasurer.

SOIL SULPHUR

Northwest farmers who have used soil sulphur report actual per acre yield gains of 8 to 15 per cent. They have found that a small application proves highly profitable.

The use of soil sulphur makes calcium, phosphorus, potash and other minerals available for plant growth. It improves the soil texture and water penetration. It promotes action of nitrogen-fixing bacteria and minimizes losses of nitrogen from manures and from other organic material in the soil. Ask your dealer for more information on the actual benefits you can gain by using soil sulphur.

TOMORROW FAIR

By Winifred Halsted

Copyright, 1943, Winifred Halsted— Distributed, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Kitty Bishop comes to the suburban home of her brother, Ben Graham, and his wife, Peg, to recuperate from her sudden divorce from Collins Bishop, a meteorically successful young lawyer. Kitty had rebelled when the increased importance of his career made him apparently neglect her. She makes a hit with ebullient Mac MacGregor and hen-pecked Randall Seaton. Mag Seaton is jealous.

"Hel-lo, Mag!" cried Kitty. Mag clutched a bunch of carrots, cheap but full of vitamins, and said in a flat voice with no inflection whatever, "Oh. Hello."

Kitty felt a little dashed, and puzzled. She couldn't know that she had precipitated a long postponed crisis. She had no way of knowing that Mag saw, looking at her, all the things she'd never had. Mag looked at Kitty's streaked honey-colored hair, waving back from her forehead with casual softness, and knew her own had corrugated and lost the burnished sheen it once had had. A soft [illegible] blue dress that matched her eyes hung from Kitty's square young shoulders. Mag knew the price of well-groomed casual simplicity like Kitty's.

"But nothing," thought Mag bitterly, "costs her anything. She doesn't even have to pay for her mistakes."

"What are you doing here?" she said aloud, dropping each syllable like a hard pebble. "Shopping?"

* * *

Kitty was so surprised her jaw dropped. If this was Mag's idea of humor, Kitty thought it was pretty hard-bitten but, quickly, she grinned and returned in what she hoped was kind: "Don't tell me you saw through my incognito! Usually people don't recognize me without my bodyguard! And I like mixing around—"

"So I hear," said Mag. "I daresay it's fun if you can afford it. And you are the type."

"Type?" said Kitty. "I'm not a type, am I? I guess I'm only ..."

"Only a girl trying to get along? I think you're pretty sure to go far! Not in Doremus though. Doremus hasn't much to offer."

"I like Doremus," said Kitty equably. "I'm not looking for anything in Doremus, you see. I'm not competing."

Mag laughed a thoroughly unamused laugh. "If you think I'm worrying about Randall's simple pleasures—don't. I never give them a thought."

"So I understand," said Kitty.

She couldn't stand there and take it, even from a friend of Peg's. But she was appalled to think how Peg would feel if she knew what was going on.

She achieved a fairly successful smile and said, "I think we must be talking about a couple of other people, don't you?"

Mag failed to respond. On the contrary, the direct animosity in her face suddenly killed all the fight in Kitty. It was so like a blow that Kitty involuntarily stepped back, then turned without a word and walked away. With very firm steps to hide the shakiness that waved over her. She walked past the crackers, past the soup, she didn't care where—so long as it was away.

"Whoa!" said Peg. "Here I am. Where's the Clapp stuff?"

"What? Oh . . . I- I couldn't find it. Peg I think I'll go—" Keeping her face turned from Peg, Kitty stared through the open door and saw a familiar bulky figure ambling past. "—, there's Mac!" she cried, and darted out.

"Oh Mac," said Kitty.

"Hello baby; want a chocolate soda? I'll buy you one if you ask nicely."

"Come on, let's walk."

"Is anything after you? Like the police, for instance?"

Kitty said no one was after her without slackening her pace and then burst out: "I met Mag Seaton in the Grand Atlantic and she was horrible . . . Mac, she dislikes me!"

Her tone of mingled unhappiness, rage, and incredulity made Mac look down at her quizzically. Kitty glanced up, intercepted the look and said hotly that she wasn't a child.

"I don't expect to be loved at first sight, but I don't expect to be practically skinned at a second look either! If I'd abducted Randall Seaton she couldn't have been more ..."

"Look," said Mac. "I know Mag Seaton fairly well. She's on a treadmill! She knows it. And she knows everybody else knows it. That doesn't help any."

"But why turn on me, because of that?"

"Because she knows you know it too, and because you're not boxed up the way she is. Because you have a lot of things she'd like to have."

"She has things I haven't," said Kitty. "She has Randall and Johnny."

"It seems to me everybody knows too much about everybody else around here. Can't you turn over in bed without its being news?"

Mac said of course not, and added that apparently Kitty didn't know much about small towns.

"I'm learning," said Kitty. "In fact I've learned so much about so many things lately that I'm sick of learning."

"You've had the wrong teachers. I can see that. Now if you took a little course with me you'd find learning a pleasure!"

They had reached the Grahams' and Kitty paused. "Want to come in?"

"Not particularly. Too much family life, it breaks my train of thought. Why don't you come see me for a change?"

"All right," said Kitty listlessly, still too depressed to care much where she went.

SOME SPECIALTY LISTS SHOW GAIN

Markets at a Glance

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—
Stocks mixed; specialties in [illegible] advance.
Bonds irregular; selective demand for rails.
Cotton quiet; price fixing against textile contracts.

Chicago
Wheat steady; supported by mill buying.
Rye lower on late selling.
Hogs rather slow, generally 15c lower; top $13.90 sparingly.
Cattle: Firm undertone on good to choice steers topping at $17.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—Assorted rails, gold mines, utilities and specialties carried the rallying ball in today's stock market but many leaders failed to score.

Cutters, diffident most of the time, enjoyed a brief mild flurry when the senate decisively backed up the house in overriding the tax bill veto. The majority, though, failed to follow through.

Trends were a shade uneven from the opening on and at the last, while gains running to 2 or more points were in evidence, minus signs were plentiful.

Transfers approximated 900,000 shares.

Bonds were narrowly irregular.

SALES CUT EARLY GRAIN ADVANCES

CHICAGO, Feb. 25 (AP)—Grains eased toward the close today as local traders, who had bought early in the session, turned to the selling side. Wheat showed more strength than other grains and at one time was ahead for gains ranging to a cent in the May contract on buying attributed to mills. The late slump erased the advance.

At the close wheat was ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, May $1.70⅝; oats were unchanged to ¼ lower, May 79⅝; rye was down ⅛-⅜, May $1.26⅛, and September barley was ⅜ lower at $1.15½.

NEW BLITZ FAILS TO PANIC BRITISH

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

British Prime Minister Churchill last night stalked through fresh ruins made by Hitler's new "non-stop" blitz on London and held up his fingers in the famous "V" sign as he told the crowds with grim belligerency:

"We'll stick it out and give it."

This sudden renewal of the aerial offensive is a nasty affair. Still, I don't believe we need regard it as a phenomenon.

It is in part an answer to the unprecedented Anglo - American bombing of western Europe and the reich which daily and nightly is blasting away the foundations of Hitler's festung Europa. Indications are, however, that it is being conducted more for its moral effect on the world at large than for military reasons.

Morale Booster

The fuehrer's primary object undoubtedly is to convince both his own people and foreign nations that the reich still possesses great striking power in the air. He aims at sustaining morale at home and at creating a bargaining point for use in case some unforseen event should impel the allies to abandon their demand for unconditional surrender and consider peace negotiations.

However, while the present German raids are the most severe since the terrible blitz of 1940-41, there's no sign that Hitler any longer can command sufficient air strength to bring London to its knees or anything like it.

The nazis are using much smaller bombing fleets than in the old days, because their luftwaffe is only a shadow of its former self, but they're employing more powerful bombs. The net result is that they are causing a lot of promiscuous destruction which has little military value, and are killing a good many unfortunate civilians. In short, from the military viewpoint the raids thus far have had only a "nuisance value."

Peace Angle Important

The peace angle is important from Hitler's angle. It long has been apparent that he is conducting a war of attrition in the hope of wearing the allies down to a point where they will compromise.

Americans who have just reached Spain enroute home after 13 months' internment in Germany—diplomats, newsmen and relief workers—say Germany can be beaten on the battlefield, but warn us that there's almost no sign of internal collapse visible to the observer.

Estate of Soldier Filed for Probate

Petition for letters of administration in the estate of Pvt. Frederic William Rolls, who died last June 16 in a Japanese prison camp in the Philippine islands, has been filed in probate court by the Rev. E. Leslie Rolls, vicar of Ascension Episcopal church, his father.

The estate includes the balance of pay due the deceased as a private in the U. S. army, which is estimated to exceed $500. The total value of the estate is said not to exceed $1,000.

Heirs, in addition to the petitioner, are Mrs. May Ginniver Rolls, Twin Falls, the soldier's mother, and Leslie Stewart Rolls, Santa Clara university, his brother.

Judge C. A. Bailey set the hearing for 10 a. m. March 4. J. H. Blandford is attorney for the petitioner.

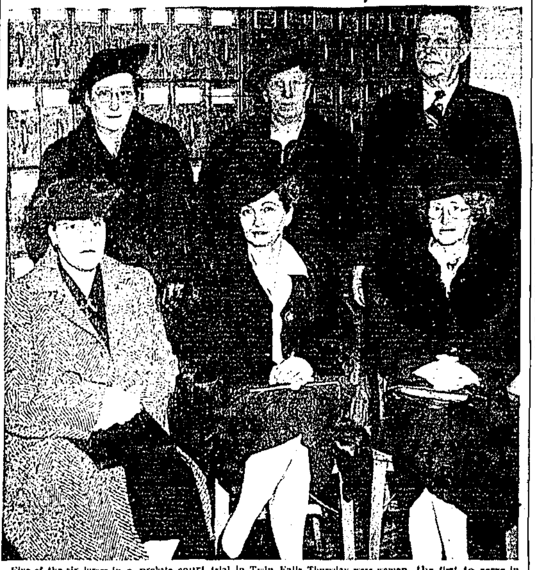
"First" Women Jurors—And They Deadlocked!



Five of the six jurors in a probate court trial in Twin Falls Thursday were women, the first to serve in this county under the 1943 law. Result of the trial: A deadlocked jury. John E. Baker, 23, Sun Valley marine accused of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, was the defendant. Those in the picture, left to right, are: front row, Mrs. Marguerite Powell, Mrs. J. H. Blandford and Mrs. Florence Widener; back row, Mrs. Sadie Ayers, Zella Effie Bice and the Rev. H. J. Reynolds. (Staff Photo Engraving)

DIVEBOMBER ACE TELLS OF PACIFIC

Capt. Richard B. Elliott, a marine corps divebomber pilot, told students of Twin Falls high school of his experiences in the south Pacific theater of war.

After spending six weeks on Guadalcanal, Captain Elliott was sent to Australia for a seven day rest. He described the Australians as being very friendly to the American servicemen and said, "They really took us in."

[illegible] as in the Fiji islands for a time Captain Elliott gave the students a vivid picture of these natives with their dyed red hair [illegible] they comb on top of their head so that it stands up about eight inches high. A soldier he said, with a bottle of perfumed hair oil has no difficulty in acquiring Fijian friends.

He explained to the students how pilots determine the number of enemy planes downed in combat.

"A pilot must actually see the plane burst into flame or explode before he can report it downed." He added that mere smoke was not enough. Also, in answering a student's question, he said that destroying grounded planes does not count. One plane destroyed 12 grounded Jap zeros, he said.

He also explained skipbombing and divebombing as done by the Americans to the students.

Because everything is being filled up so rapidly in the armed forces, Captain Elliott strongly advised students to stay in school as long as they could. He explained that good grades are important, since if a person has them he is more apt to be selected for officers' training or technical training than a person who does not.

Community Award Dinner for Jerome

Two outstanding Jerome people, a man and woman, who have been judged by a secret committee of six members, will be awarded the service honors.

The names of the two selected will be kept secret until the evening of the dinner and presentation will be made by Jaycee President Orris Griffith.

COUNTY TOPS '43 LAMB MARKETING

During the marketing season of 1943, more lambs and ewes were sold in Twin Falls county than in any other area of the state, according to an agricultural extension report received this week by D. T. Bolingbroke, county agent here.

Including lambs, ewes, wethers and aged sheep, a total of 11,566 were marketed in Twin Falls county this year. Both 1942 and 1943 show a heavy reduction in ewes from ranch and range lands.

"Our peak marketing of ranch lambs was in 1941. The reduction in the number of ewes in 1942 resulted in far fewer lambs to market from the farms in 1943," Bolingbroke pointed out.

In 1942 the pools shipped one ewe to each six lambs. The range reports for 1942 show a shipment of 10 ewes to each 59 lambs against the long-time average of one ewe to 20 lambs. In 1943 the pools marketed 10 ewes to 44 lambs, while the range reports gave 10 ewes to 75 lambs.

As heavy lambs were in demand, many good light lambs that ordinarily would have gone to the packers were purchased and taken to the country for the purpose of putting on additional weight. This resulted in heavy sorting of both the ranch and range lambs. On many ranches and ranges it was not possible to hold the lambs to put on additional weight, conditions being such that they would have started to lose rather than gain.

Monthly prices declined throughout the marketing season with prices each month lower than those of the preceding month, the farm lambs that were ready and marketed early had the advantage.

Market prices averaged $15.33 in May, $14.91 in June, $14.33 in July, declining in similar proportion to a low of $12.89 in November. The farm lambs had marketed 61 per cent of their lambs by Aug. 1, at which time only 28 per cent of the range lambs had been shipped.

PEACE JOBS TOP PUBLIC CONCERN

NEW YORK, Feb. 25 (AP)—A majority of the American people puts the prevention of postwar unemployment first among 1944 election issues, on the basis of the latest survey by Fortune magazine, reported in the March issue.

To obtain public reaction on this as well as other subjects, the magazine asked this question:

"Sometimes in the past, people who are not very well known have been nominated at the last minute by one party or the other. If such a dark horse should be nominated in 1944 which of these subjects would he have to agree with you on before you would vote for him?"

The answers showed that 57.5 per cent of the voters would require agreement above all else on the importance of preventing postwar unemployment, while 53.7 per cent would insist that the candidate favor a postwar role for the U. S. in world affairs.

A more direct question as to what voters would "like to have the U. S. do after the war," brought answers showing that 68-1 per cent want the country to "take an active part in an international organization." Only 12.7 per cent would "enter into no alliances and have as little as possible to do with other countries."

TO CHICAGO CONVENTION

BUHL, Feb. 25—Dr. F. A. Kallusky, Buhl's only remaining dentist, has gone to Chicago to attend the national dental convention. While in the east he will visit his brother, Philip, and expects to be back about Feb. 27. His office rooms are being completely renovated during his absence.
